Spectacular Escape Engineered By Former Inmate, Who Feared Prison Sentence

ROCHESTER HOME HEAVILY GUARDED

Eleven Armed Guards Thrown Around Matteawan Grounds To Halt Further Escapes

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Matteawan's spectacular escape of six lunatics was engineered, by a former inmate who escaped from the institution on the eve of his being pronounced sane and fit to face trial for robbery, Dr. Raymond F. C. Kiehl, superintendent of the state hospital, said today.

William Nelson, who invaded Matteawan with two gunmen, had somehow learned that he no longer considered him insane. He knew what this meant—a new hearing and the possibility of a stiff prison sentence in a penitentiary. About two weeks ago, before we communicated with the prosecuting attorney, he escaped. Apparently he missed the comradeship of the men for whom he returned. He took desperate efforts—that succeeded—to renew old acquaintanceships."

Guard Established
Today 11 armed guards were thrown about the hospital grounds in preparation for the possible reappearance of Nelson. This was caused by the assertion of Nelson who before fleeing with his friends told 70 other patients:
"Cheer up, boys. I'll come back and get more of you!"
Meanwhile Rochester police were hunting for Harry Gordon, the "mad butcher." A coroner, who had been told that Nelson had returned to continue his killings under the delusion he is divinely inspired.

"A Scout is Helpful." Boy Scouts here will live up to that during the yuletide, lending a helping hand wherever they see fit to do so. The scout office has mailed letters to all troops asking them to do something as an organization. Plenty of scouts, as individuals, make it a practice to aid the poor each Christmas.

The parcel post lobby crowd at the postoffice is gradually growing larger, indicating, what authorities had hoped, an early mailing. Until December 20th the number of mailers in other years has been fairly large, and then after that—oh my! Maybe that rush will be avoided this year.

It would do well if you read the letters that the latest arrivals are for sending Christmas parcels to friends in other states, that is, if you desire pre-Christmas arrival. Just turn inside and make sure.

See where one family already has hung its Christmas decorations, anywhere there are wreaths hanging in the windows. There'll be plenty of holly at least for three shipments of it already are in. There are no Christmas trees in town as yet, but will be soon.

Don't ever get the idea that New Castle people won't give a lift when it's needed. If you ever had the idea, the scene at the Penn Theatre this morning would have dissipated it when 3500 boys and girls from every corner of the city paid their way into the Donation Matinee with food.

City's Relief Plan Goes Into Operation On Monday Morning

NEEDIEST MEN GIVEN JOBS FIRST

Councilmen convened in city hall Friday afternoon when Councilman Stanley Treser introduced an ordinance appropriating $10,000 from the $70,000 derived from the sale of the municipal credit system, for special work, to be performed as one of the means to aid those suffering from unemployment. The ordinance was sent to committee, reported forth favorably, ordered printed and it is expected will be adopted Tuesday.

According to Treser, 100 unemployed will be put to work widening The Narrows at 8 a. m. Monday morning. It is proposed to give each man three days employment and use a rotary system by which several hundred will be kept employed on a ratio of three days a week at a salary of 35 cents an hour for an eight hour day.

Select Hundred
Treser studied the registration cards of the mayor's relief committee and yesterday selected the 100 men to start work Monday. The men selected have families or are single men with dependents. His selection was confined to those who have been out of work longest.

Treser made the following announcement today:
"One hundred men will receive letters today. The letters will contain a number and also a green tag."
"The men with the number and also the green tag are to report at 7:45 a. m. Monday at the intersection of Rural Avenue and The Narrows."
"No others need apply. Only men who have the number and the green tag will be put to work."

ELLWOOD CITY WOMAN GOES TO WORKHOUSE

Young Men Who Drove Abandoned Car Found On Road Are Paroled 1 Year

George Leasure and John Dagres, charged with breaking and entering the H. G. Preston wholesale grocery, were given terms to the Western penitentiary following pleas before Judges Hildebrand and Chambers at sentence court this morning. Leasure was sentenced to serve five to ten years and Dagres from 1½ to 6 years.

Leasure's sentence was the more severe owing to the fact that he had been arrested for robbing the John Matthews home in Mahoning township in 1924, and had been paroled. He also is said to have served a time in Huntington reform school from Allegheny county. Leasure is married and has a wife and two children.

Dagres is a single man, and according to pleas made by his attorney, has never been in trouble before.

Workhouse For Woman.
Gertrude Zattlerio, of Ellwood City, for keeping a bawdy house, was sentenced to pay $100 fine and costs and undergo imprisonment in the Allegheny county workhouse for one year. It was stated in her behalf that she is the mother of four children. Her husband has not been doing anything to support the family and is now in the county jail. It was claimed that Mrs. Zattlerio had engaged in the business in order to keep her family together. The children are now scattered, one child being with a relative, two have been placed in the George Junior Republic at Grove City and one is with friends in Erie.

Boys Are Paroled.

TWO OTHERS ARE SAVED BY FLEEING

(International News Service)
CHESTER, Pa., Dec. 6.—Believed temporarily crazed by poverty and worry over the future for her four small children Mrs. Ida Twaddell, 38, was held for observation in the Chester hospital today after she killed two of her little tots late last night.

Frightened at the tragedy before their eyes the other two children escaped by running to the homes of neighbors.
The two victims are believed to have been battered with a sash weight then drowned in the bathtub. Their bodies were found floating in the bathtub by their father when he returned home from work. Nearby lay a sashweight and butcher knife which the crazed woman is believed to have used in the executions.

"I had to do it," the mother screamed when the tragedy was discovered. "I couldn't bear to let them grow up without an education. I wanted them to have the good things in life."

Still hysterical she was taken to the hospital where at an early hour today physicians were trying to quiet her.
The bodies of the two tots, Kenneth, six months, and Herbert, 2, were in the city morgue, while the other children, Violet, 6, and Clarence, 4, were in the care of neighbors. The father, Lafayette Twaddell, was overcome by the tragedy.

Adjutant General Beary Coming Here December 17 To Inspect Armory Sites

In a letter to Louis B. Round, chairman of the Civilian Committee of Troop F, 103rd Cavalry, Major Samuel B. Wolfe, squadron commander, states that Adjutant General F. D. Beary will come to New Castle on December 17 to inspect possible armory sites. With General Beary and Major Wolfe will be Captain Shelton.

The acceptance of General Beary of the invitation to come to New Castle indicates an interest upon his part in the efforts of New Castle to get an armory here. The adjutant general has always been most friendly to local guard units and it is to be hoped that his visit here will result in a commitment from him that New Castle is worthy of a state armory.

Plans are already under way for the entertainment of General Beary and his staff. In the afternoon he will inspect the sites under consideration. At six thirty a dinner will be held in his honor to which will be invited representative citizens of the community. At eight o'clock he will inspect Troop F and Captain Harvey G. Bintrun hopes to have every man in uniform that night.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
BRUSSELS, Dec. 6.—After struggling valiantly throughout the day, a late afternoon sun today broke through the deadly gas-laden fog which had blanketed the Province of Liege, causing 64 or more deaths and injuries to at least 300 persons. At 5 p. m. the warning sun had dissipated virtually the

Estimates Say 54 To 78 Dead

BRUSSELS, Dec. 6.—Estimates of the toll of dead in the "poison fog" catastrophe in the Meuse Valley ranged from 54 to 78 today. In official quarters here, the number of dead was estimated at 54. Other estimates said 64 lost their lives, while even higher totals were recorded. Lack of complete reports from outlying rural districts in the fog area caused the confusion.

last lingering finger streamers of the mist, and had brought relief to the stricken population.

Meanwhile the Belgian authorities, chemical experts and authorities on poison gas were investigating the cause of the catastrophe, but had not yet reached any definite decision.

The death toll remained unofficially at 64, although it was not known whether all of the victims had been reported to the authorities.

District In Panic
Liege, Belgium, Dec. 6.—Panic-stricken by a mysterious death-dealing fog which already has claimed 84 lives and sent more than 300 persons to hospitals in agonizing pain, residents of the historic Meuse Valley gathered together their livestock and barricaded themselves in their homes today.

While the government took extraordinary measures to combat the baffling death-fog, rushing thousands of gas masks to the affected area, the inhabitants stuffed paper and cloth in the chinks of doors and windows and huddled within their walls in fear as the yellow, choking mist swirled through the air outside.

Fog Covers Countryside
From Liege along the Meuse River to the fortified city of Namur, the mysterious fog lay in patches and streaks, turning the countryside into a scene of death and acute suffering.

Abandoning the theory that the slaughter might have been caused by stores of forgotten poison gas left buried somewhere in the valley since the war, officials divided their efforts between seeking the origin of the fumes and rendering aid to those threatened with death.

A check-up of the victims showed that most of those affected had been suffering from heart or lung ailments, rendering them more susceptible to the effects of the fog. Among the theories put forward was that the fog, which has lain over the countryside for three days, had become surcharged with noxious fumes from zinc and other factories, but the extent of the area affected laid this open to doubt.

Terror Grips District
Terror gripped the inhabitants as they saw the victims, one by one, throttled by the Asphyxiating fog falling almost in their tracks like soldiers during a gas attack in wartime. Hundreds living in the small village worst affected by the catastrophe hastily packed a few belongings and fled into Liege, recalling this open to doubt.

Will Rogers Gives Sun Porch For Almira Home

Mrs. Celia S. Wilson, Formerly Of Venango County, Makes Fine Gift

Is Contributed In Honor Of Her Mother, Mrs. Metta E. Sibley

Through the generosity of Mrs. Celia S. Wilson of New York City, daughter of the late Hon. Joseph C. Sibley, a sun porch is now under course of construction at the Almira Home, which will be completed within the next ten days.

Mrs. Wilson conceived the idea of donating the money for this specific purpose, when she visited the home last June, and marvelled at the many comforts provided for the women. She noted this lack, however, and felt that the aged women at the home would appreciate this addition.

As a result, a check was recently received by the board of trustees at the home, from Mrs. Wilson, with the request that the work be started now in order to aid in furnishing employment to the men of New Castle.

Plans were drawn and the contract was awarded A. W. Bauman. (Continued On Page Two)

In addition to this recommendation, the secretaries suggested that, if necessary, the $20,000,000 surplus in the highway fund be diverted to road construction.

Other outstanding resolutions passed by the conference were a proposal that the highway department formulate a program for taking over privately-owned toll bridges on the main arterial highways of Pennsylvania, and the adoption by the legislature of a safety responsibility bill shaped on the same lines as those now in effect in twelve other states, including New York and New Jersey.

Among the speakers at the closing session were S. Edward Gable, of Lancaster, president of the State Federation, and Ernest N. Smith, of Washington, executive vice president of the American Automobile Association.

You're the JUDGE

The Northern Iron & Wire Works entered into a contract with a jobber to supply him with a line of their merchandise for a specified length of time. For some reason, however, after a few orders had been filled the works failed to make any further shipments. After a reasonable wait and some correspondence the jobber filed suit for damages for breach of contract and was awarded judgment.

Some time before the suit was filed the plant of the iron works had been assigned to Mr. Stone. After the suit had been decided against the works, Mr. Stone in going over the books, discovered that the jobber had not paid for the orders that were shipped to him, so he filed suit for that.

Hopes were held out that the fog would lift by tonight, but during the early afternoon the choking mist still continued to deal out suffering and death, cloaking the entire countryside in an opaque blanket.

It was feared that many of those taken to hospitals would succumb, while a more complete house-to-house check-up was expected to reveal hitherto unreported deaths. Scarcely any aged persons in the affected area escaped without suffering some ill effects, while the victims were reported to include at least some young and apparently healthy persons.

Loss in live-stock was heavy, animals being affected much the same as human beings by the fog.

Try to Unravel Mystery
Liege, Belgium, Dec. 6.—Government health authorities, aided by army medical corps details, physicians and scientists, worked frantically today to unravel the terrifying death mystery borne into the picturesque Meuse valley by a heavy yellow fog which already has caused 64 deaths.

Approximately 300 persons were rushed to hospitals, many of them in dangerous condition. Military authorities rushed thousands of gas masks to Liege today for distribution among the inhabitants of that area as a precautionary measure against the possibility of war gases that may be escaping from some mysterious source.

An increase in fatalities was feared before a house-to-house investigation is completed in the affected region from Liege along the Meuse river to the fortified city of Namur, blood-soaked battleground that smoked and trembled under the onslaughts of invading armies in the first days of the World War.

The dismal shroud gave indications this morning of lifting before the end of the day, bringing hope into the hearts of the frantic countryside that the scourge would end at the same time.

Eight Towns Hit
A compilation of fatality cases furnished by municipal officers showed that of eight towns hard hit, the municipality of Engis, five miles from here, suffered the worst blow. Fourteen deaths were recorded there within 24 hours, centering all investigations on that spot.

The remaining fatalities were reported as follows: Fiemelle-Grande, 4; Yvoe, 5; Deneppe, 10; Ote, 7; Amay, 8; and Anfin, 8.

The village of Ougree reported 10 persons seriously ill and numerous cases were under treatment in other hospitals. There is, in addition, an undercurrent of fear among the officials that upon search of private homes it will be discovered that death's finger reached out of the foggy air into the midst of many families.

Livestock suffered extensively—beasts and cattle dropping suddenly to the ground. The shaken peasants drove them into kitchens, cellars and living rooms in the hope of averting complete disaster.

Autopsies were conducted today to help establish the real death cause, tentatively ascribed to cold damp and dense fog which permeated the valley for the past four days. It was pointed out that those suffering from cardiac troubles or respiratory afflictions such as asthma were first to succumb.

Countryside in Panic
The countryside, scene of many famed European legends, a region rich in historic events and linked closely with Emperor Charlemagne of the Middle Ages, and dear to the heart of devout pilgrims, was thrown into a panic by the mystifying deaths. Scores of the 4,000 peasants comprising the largest part of its population fled in terror to Liege, recalling the war days when refugees poured into the city.

The phenomena was comparative to that of 1911, when 11 persons suddenly fell dead in the midst of an icy fog. They were persons whose lungs, doctors at the time said, were weak.

As the investigation into the death progressed some of those officially or unofficially assisting were inclined to attribute the fatalities more and more to natural causes, a few discarding altogether the theory that poison gas was responsible.

The wet, cold fog, depressing from a physical as well as mental standpoint, was chiefly blamed by them. They contended that persons suffering from heart, throat or lung trouble alone were included in the fatality list.

The remote probability that the "black death" or other generations had again visited the countryside was discounted by commission members.

A more widely considered theory was that the tragedy was caused either by fumes from zinc works in the vicinity, or from poison gas from burning war materials forgotten by the Germans in their retreat from Belgium. Great hidden vaults of such material remain in the affected vicinity, enhancing the belief that escaped poison gas had mixed with the fog.

Its history for the past 2,000 years recorded by civilization impresses us with the fact that the earth's interior is crowded with violence that every now and then breaks out upon its surface and at times has taken great toll of life. The eruption of Vesuvius in A. Meeting in their club rooms for the monthly gathering, the Foremen's Club of the Shenango Works of the American Sheet and Tube company heard Louis B. Round, manager of the Pennsylvania Power company address them on "The Measure of a Man" Friday evening.

The address was an interesting one and in it Mr. Round dealt with the qualities that go to make up a foursquare man. These qualities he classified as follows: "Ability, reliability, endurance and action." In the address he touched upon the facial and cranial characteristics of a man, their indications, but these were overshadowed he said by the soul qualities. A little later in the program Mr. Round sang a group of Scotch songs.

from Grantboro, near the Butler county line. They had driven it about two miles and ran against a tree, where they abandoned the car. It developed that the car had been stolen from a dance at Princeton the night before and left on the road by the thief. The young men had been at the dance, but did not have anything to do with the stealing of the car. Both young men had borne good reputations, and maintained that they had no intention of stealing the car. It was found on the highway on Sunday evening, following the dance, which had been held on Saturday evening.

Gets Jail Term.

Henry Krupa, charged with transporting liquor, was fined $100 and costs and given eight months to the county jail. Krupa is 20 years of age and lives in the Oakland district. He claimed that two cousins were visiting him from Youngstown. He was going to take them home and incidentally go to see his girl in Youngstown. A neighbor, whose first name was given as Mike, asked to go along to Youngstown. When Krupa was ready to come home he drove to a place agreed upon for Mike, who had some liquor in jug, which he wanted brought to New Castle. Their car was held up and searched near the Harbor and the liquor found. Krupa and one of his cousins who was coming back with him ran away. Mike claimed that he was only a passenger. Two days later Krupa came to an alderman's office and gave himself up. Mike skipped to Ohio. Krupa will be released in 30 days if fine and costs are paid.

To Pay Fine.

Rose Ambrose, charged with assault and battery on Constable John Miller, was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs. Miller had gone to the Ambrose place of business to make a levy. It was claimed that Rose had been suffering from neuritis and was very nervous. She got into an argument with the constable and is alleged to have struck him during a mixup. There was a charge of obstructing a legal process against her, but it was quashed.

Ben Jackson, colored, who had failed to pay the costs of a case in which he had been paroled, was sentenced ten days to the county jail.

Moses Is Paroled.

Charles Moses, charged with possessing liquor, was paroled upon the $200 and costs. It was claimed that when arrested he had a gallon jug of liquor in his car. He said that he had purchased it out by the cement plants, for his own use. There was no charge that he had been selling any liquor. Moses, who has been out on bail, has been working at Indiana, Pa.

who has already started work on the project.

The second floor of the veranda at the home is being enclosed, and when this work is finished, comfortable furniture will be installed and stoves will be placed so that the women may enjoy this necessity.

Many fine gifts were received by the home from Mr. Sibbey during his lifetime, and the trustees more than appreciate the interest shown by Mrs. Wilson in following in her father's footsteps.

The gift was presented in memory of Mrs. Wilson's mother, Metta E. Sibbey, whose name will be cherished by the 43 aged women now residing at the home, when they enjoy the comforts of this new adjunct.

CONGRESS MAY ENLARGE UPON HOOVER'S PLAN

dications the proposal would be laid before congress early next week. The administration plans to limit the highway expansion program to the $80,000,000 figures set by Mr. Hoover in his emergency program, it was disclosed by Rep. Dowell (R) of Iowa, chairman of the house roads committee.

This program provides for advances to the states before next July, for emergency work. After that date the regular annual appropriation of $125,000,000 for federal-aid highways could be drawn upon. If that is used rapidly next summer and fall, congress will be asked again for emergency funds next winter, he said.

SOROSIS CLUB HAS MEETING ON FRIDAY

Mrs. Lewis Gordon, of Leisure avenue, received members of the Sorosis Club in her home Friday afternoon, having in attendance 23. Roll call was responded to with a "Parliamentary Rule" after which the program planned was in progress.

The entertainment that passed away the hours, was the Parliamentary contest, and proved most amusing as well as interesting. Mrs. D. B. Woolcock and Mrs. W. C. Eckenrood conducted the affair, and the captains of the teams were Mrs. H. Dague and Mrs. George White. At the conclusion of the contest, the members adjourned to meet again in two weeks with Mrs. George C. White on Delaware avenue for their annual Christmas party. Each will bring at this time, a gift for the neighborhood house.

HONORED AT SEVEN O'CLOCK DINNER

Mrs. Howard Kelley and Mrs. Herbert Rose were associate hostesses Friday evening when they entertained at the home of the former on Highland avenue, a group of guests in honor of their cousin, Mrs. Lester Kern of Pittsburgh.

The gathering was featured with a sumptuous 7 o'clock dinner served by the hostess at the appointed hour, in the dining room. The table was gaily decorated in the season's colors, greeted the eyes of the guests where favors marked places for ten. Cards were in play during the balance of the evening, with the prizes for honors being won by Mrs. Charles T. Metzler and Mrs. Martin Mills. The guest of honor was also the recipient of a beautiful gift in behalf of those in attendance.

Enjoyable Class Meeting

Twenty-three members of St. John's Lutheran church, Victory Bible class met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. F. J. Rawle, County Line street.

Mrs. Charles Rick opened the meeting with devotional service at which time special songs were beautifully rendered by the Misses Margaret Hess, Virginia Gilbert, Cleora Williams and Alice May Rick.

Mrs. Frew Lutz presided at the business session and much mission work was disposed of. The class is donating money to the Home Missions, Pittsburgh, also to the boys' basketball team of St. John's church.

A nice sum of money was taken in from the sale of our cook books. On December 15 the class will hold a Christmas party in the form of a tureen dinner at 6:30, to be held at the home of Mrs. John Baer, Leisure avenue. Each one is to bring a toy or book. These will be distributed later to the poor.

Mrs. Witherspoon, Neshannock avenue, was a special guest. After enjoying delicious candy served by the hostess, Mrs. Rawle, and radio music, the class adjourned at a late hour.

G. A. T. 1914 Club

The G. A. T. 1914 Club members gathered at the home of Mrs. Ben Jones on Temple avenue Thursday evening for their regular meeting. The usual routine was carried out in an efficient manner, and as pastimes they had radio music, games and chat. Plans for their Christmas party are underway, and will take place on December 16 at the home of Mrs. John MacDonald on Galbreath avenue. The exchange of gifts will occur at this meeting.

A dainty lunch served in the dining room by the hostess brought the event to a close. Mrs. Thomas McNicholas and Mrs. David Griffith assisted in the serving.

E. L. T. A. Club

The E. L. T. A. Club members held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Leon Fink on Boyles avenue Thursday, the event being featured with a 1 o'clock luncheon. Miss Edna Waddington assisted the hostess in serving a very tasty lunch, after which a business session was called. Plans were furthered for their Christmas party, and it will be held at the Elks Club on December 17. A period of Bridge occupied the remaining social hours.

The next regular meeting will be with Mrs. Frank Harlan on Sheridan avenue.

Two Accidents Are Reported To The Police Authorities
Of The City

J. R. Shaw of R. D. No. 2, reported that he was enroute home from his work at the Carnegie Steel plant today, going east on George street at South Jefferson street, as Ray Droney of Youngstown, was enroute north on Jefferson street on the wrong side of the street. The cars came together and some damage was done to both machines.

Claude A. Heasley of 717 Brooklyn avenue, reported Friday that he was going east in front of the city building as the car of Glenn C. Kelly, 710 Cumberland avenue was going west on Washington street. Heasley's machine skidded in the street car tracks and turned to the left and hit the Kelly car. The Kelly car in turn bumped into a car bearing Pennsylvania license 4394E, which was parked at the curb. Some damage was done to all three cars.

The worst of it is, so many commission reports may yet require the building of new pigeon holes.

All of US

By Marshall Maslin

A REPROOF FROM THE BIRDS
Some of us live in muggy darkness. We do not believe that the sun ever will shine on us as it shines on other people. We look ahead, as we travel, to a spot where the sun is shining and we think: "By the time WE get there, the sun will probably be behind a cloud. It always is for us—wherever we are." So we sit and wait for the sun to come to us.

I do not know why we live like that. It may be that we have been hurt when we were children and lost hope early and never learned how to build our lives into anything solid and shining. But I do know that many of us are stupid about our happiness. We wait for it to come our way—and it does not seek us out. So that, we think, proves we were wise in our doleful doubts.

But the other day I read two fine paragraphs about birds. Julian Huxley wrote them for the Atlantic Monthly and they tell a simple story about small winged creatures who are sometimes wiser than us. Here they are:

"I was staying at Witsun one year at a little inn on the Upper Thames. Under the eaves a number of house martins were building mud nests. I was interested to find out something of their courtship, but there had been no courting in evidence during the Saturday afternoon and evening. . . . I got up before dawn on the Sunday. To my surprise, there were no martins to be seen—none in or by their nests, none flying round. I walked round the place, and up and down the tow-path, along which spread a faint mist from the river, and still saw nothing of my birds. Then from the barn came a single swallow, and flew up into the sky.

"I followed its flight with my eyes, and suddenly saw why I had failed to find the martins. They were all up there in the blue, circling round in company with some barn swallows and chimney swifts, from which I could distinguish them at the height they were flying. The sun had not yet risen when I stood on the solid earth, but had already reached the birds high above my head. And as the earth spun and the sun's rays approached its surface, the birds sank with them, twittering all the time; and finally the light struck the inn and flooded the meadows, and the birds dispersed, to the duties of the day."

Imagine birds loving their sun so profoundly, drawn so powerfully toward light and warmth that they leave their mud nests while the earth still is chill and dark and ascend to greet their magnificent friend in swirls and dives and instinctive song.

I think there's a reproof from the birds in that blessed incident—and a hint for all of us who live in complaining misery and will not rise to any sort of happiness even when it shines and waits above our heads.

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

DON'T "SHOW OFF"
When you are away from home you try to act like a person of importance.

In various ways you try to be impressive. You wish to give an impression that you do not belong to the common herd with which you mingle.

You have never been able to get away with it successfully.

The part you are attempting to play is unnatural for you, hence a fizzle.

The really important person does not desire to be known as such.

He realizes, from what he has already learned, that there remains much knowledge for him to acquire.

He also knows that the position he occupies might be more capably filled by a large number of men.

The thought that none could fill his position never presents itself.

He does not desire to attract attention, in fact he prefers to be obscure.

But this is not true of the man who is easily satisfied with himself, with what he has and what he has accomplished.

The man, who makes the loudest objection to the service given him in public places, has enjoyed the fewest number of years of being able to command service.

The man, who talks the most about money, emphasizes the fact that his money is a rather recent possession.

BE BRIEF AND POINTED

One event in the life of Earl W. Hodges, international president of the Lion's Club, stands out as a lesson, and by the result of which he has ever since been guided.

Mr. Hodges, who is a forceful speaker, recently related in a luncheon talk to a Lion's Club, that in his younger days he was invited to speak before a Civic Club, and became so wrapped up in his subject that he spoke about thirty-five minutes overtime.

Upon conclusion of his speech, he apologized for taking so much time, and used the excuse that there was no clock on the wall.

The chairman in retort remarked with a tinge of sarcasm, "But there's a calendar on the wall."

Order From Hines Delays Release Of Disabled Veterans

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Frank T. Hines, administrator of Veterans' affairs, today ordered that no World War veteran now being cared for in National homes but slated to be released because they are not totally disabled, shall be discharged during the Christmas holidays.

His order will remain in effect until January 5 and was prompted by a complaint against the contemplated discharge of 290 veterans from the National home at Ft. Leavenworth, Kas.

Hines said, however, that it has been the practice of the homes in the past to delay the discharge of the veterans who are capable of making a living until after the holidays unless they request it.

He said room in the homes is needed for many veterans who are disabled and in dire need of care.

Hines said C. W. Wadsworth, head of the Bureau of National Homes, told him that 1,138 veterans who are temporarily disabled and admitted to the homes, were given their quarterly examination recently and all except the 290 were recommended to be retained.

The quarterly examinations are made of the inmates, he said, in order to release those veterans who are capable of taking care of themselves and to provide room for more deserving cases.

If any of the 290 men who are slated to be released ask a re-examination as to their condition it will be cheerfully granted, Hines said, and if it is found their condition actually warrants their stay at the home they will be retained.

Senate And House Approve Increased Loans To Farmers

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—A conflict between the senate and house over how much money is to be appropriated for seed and feed loans to agriculturists in the drought affected areas of the country appeared likely today when the house agriculture committee, by a vote of 11 to 7, favorably reported a bill fixing the amount at $30,000,000.

Later yesterday the senate agriculture committee voted in favor of a bill appropriating $60,000,000.

Both senate and house bills, however, increase the amount recommended by the administration, $25,000,000.

In Religious and Fraternal Circles

Epworth W. M. S.
Mrs. Maud Montgomery of 210 Garfield avenue was hostess to the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Epworth Methodist church Friday evening with Mrs. J. C. Wimer leading the devotional opening service.
Roll call was answered with Christmas texts and a silent tribute was paid Mrs. Nancy Reynolds, with Mrs. J. C. Wimer leading the prayer.
Mrs. W. J. Marshall read a letter from Mrs. Proctor, superintendent of the mission work in Zechow, China, and Mrs. S. L. Maxwell gave a splendid review of the second chapter of the study book, "A Cloud of Witnesses"; Mrs. William Etter pleased with a reading, "A Rainbow of Promise" and Mrs. Hamilton told the story, "An Investment of Twenty Dollars." A liberal Christmas offering was lifted.
Temple refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. E. Marshall, Mrs. C. F. Flannery, Mrs. Edward Mayberry.

Women's Council

There will be a meeting of the Women's Council of the First Christian church immediately after the church service Sunday morning.

Y. P. C. U. Social

The regular monthly business and social meeting of the Y. P. C. U. of the Third United Presbyterian church will be held Monday evening at the home of Watson Wilson, Morton street.

Choir to Rehearse

This evening at eight o'clock Mrs. June Bernard, director, has called a meeting of the choir of the Croton avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Special music will be rehearsed.

Rebekah Chapter Meets

The regular meeting of the Rebekah chapter of the First United Presbyterian church was held Friday evening in the church parlors with 26 members present.

A chapter of the mission study book, "At Work in the Homeland" was reviewed by Rebecca Brown and topics were discussed by Mrs. Eleanor Bollard, Mrs. Ethel Cross and Mrs. Elsie Dickey.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. Floyd Lortz, the president, and a new member received, Mrs. Eliza Young.

Closing the evening the members were served a tempting lunch by Dell Davidson, Mrs. Emma Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth McCandless and Margaret Powers. January 2, 1931, will mark the date of the next meeting.

Missionary Meeting

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Methodist church held their monthly session Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. N. Baer, West Wallace avenue, for the annual business meeting, with Mrs. Roy Miller presiding in the absence of Mrs. C. G. Farr.

Mrs. W. A. Strimater had charge of the opening devotionals and Mrs. Whittaker gave a poem, "His Birthday."

Mrs. Ada Newlon gave a gratifying treasurer's report and the various group leaders made their reports. A committee was appointed to draw up resolutions for Mrs. Martha Ketter.

Mrs. Helen Robinson had the program in charge and Mrs. E. W. Greiner and Mrs. J. C. Miner sang a beautiful duet, "Silent Night, Holy Night."

"The Thrill of the Uninteresting," a demonstration was portrayed by Mrs. O. C. Mauck, Mrs. Mabel Stump, Mrs. Will Jones, Mrs. Paul Kinney, Mrs. J. M. Conn, Mrs. I. E. Davis, Mrs. A. G. Mathews.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the afternoon.

B. Y. P. U. Cabinet Meeting

The officers of the B. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist church held an important meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cook on Thursday evening.

The eight point system was discussed and the B. Y. P. U. was divided into four groups according to the Southern Baptist plan. Each group is headed by one of the four vice presidents.

Those present at the meeting were Paul Cook, president; Verna Bailor, secretary; Jesse McClelland, treasurer; French Johnson, first vice president; Franklin Russler, third vice president, and Mary Brown, fourth vice president.

Pythian Sisters

Castle Temple, No. 37, met in regular meeting at the City Hall Friday evening. Election resulted in the following officers being chosen for 1931:

Past chief, Jennie Drum; most excellent chief, Dorothy Maxwell; excellent senior, Elizabeth Henderson; excellent junior, Edith Arthrell; manager, Alice Taylor; protector, Frances Johnson; guard, Hannah Cochran; M. of R. C., Elizabeth Patterson; M. of F., Ethel Douglas; trustee, Beatrice Horcher, captain degree staff, Florence Cartwright; grand representative, Anna Cochran; alternate, Florence Cartwright; pianist, Nell Knox; press correspondent, Dorothy Maxwell.

The next meeting will be held Friday, Dec. 19, at which time a social period is to be enjoyed.

THIRTY FIVE HUNDRED CHILDREN DONATE FOOD

ent depression. Not a one of the youngsters but had his admission. Many of them brought a double admission and from 9:45 to 11:45 a corps of volunteer workers were kept at high speed piling the food, packing it in cases and boxes and barrels, directing the youngsters in and out of the show, doing what there was to be done, and doing it cheerfully.

When Speer Marousis, manager of the Penn theatre, first offered to put on a free matinee, provided the youngsters brought food for the relief committee, it was thought that perhaps 500 boys and girls would respond. One showing of Harold Lloyd's "Feet First" was planned and a few baskets secured to hold the food.

What happened was a deluge of youngsters, the lobby was piled high with foodstuffs, and outside there were 1500 more boys and girls clamoring to get in, to donate their foodstuffs and to see the show.

More Volunteers.

Ten minutes after the doors were opened for the first show there was a cry for more volunteers, for more baskets, for more boxes and hurriedly police and firemen were summoned. Professional and business men dropped their tasks and came in to act as ushers and traffic directors, while just inside the door three policemen and as many civilians were holding back as best they could the crowd, in order that the doors would not be smashed down and youngsters hurt. The job these fellows did was well done. The children were passed in quickly, willing hands received and classified their donations, and the youngsters hurried in to join their companions. In the meantime a corps of cleaners and janitors were busy getting the paper wrappings and keeping the floor clear of debris.

Among the donations must have been 2,000 cans of goods, 500 glasses and jars of preserves, 50 bushels of potatoes, 10 barrels of cabbage, five bushels of apples and a lot of miscellaneous food such as macaroni, spaghetti, corn, beans, peas and 100 pounds of sugar sent up by Thomas Blake, manager of the Rieck-McLunk company. For this donation Mr. Blake gave out 50 cards of admission. Miss Rachael Wallace purchased a can of corn for every youngster of the Margaret Henry home and Chris Couthard of the traction company donated a bus to haul the youngsters down town and back.

Theatre Free.

The use of the theatre and the film "Feet First" were donated by Speer Marousis, manager of the Penn theatre. The operators donated their time to running off the reels, the janitors and cleaners donated their time, the New Castle Grocery, the H. G. Preston Co., Butz Brothers and H. L. Marvin company donated trucks to haul it away.

Among the volunteers it is doubtful if all the names can be listed. Police Captain Ed Elder was there, so was City Detective Creighton Logan, Officer William Tyrell, Nick Faiella, U. G. Harper, Thomas Jones, Motor-cycle Officer Crisswell. Harry Wirsing dropped his architectural pencil to pile canned goods, Frank Lennox, Assistant Fire Chief Clare Stockman, Dr. Harry Rosenfield, C. Ed Brown, Paul Welsh, John Shaw, Ivor Richards, Daniel John, these and a score of others did a man sized job of work helping and if any are missed, put it down to the lack of memory upon the part of the writer of this article.

Harold Lloyd never played to a more enthusiastic or appreciative audience than he did this morning in the two donation matinees presented in the Penn theatre. The idea was an overwhelming success and Mr. Marousis, manager of the Penn theatre, is to be congratulated for it. As for the results, five truck-loads of food are going to be mighty useful in allaying the pangs of hunger among those unfortunate enough to need help.

Missing Girl Is Found, Ready To Wed Sweetheart

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 6.—Thelma Knepp, 17, formerly of West Decatur, Clearfield county, joined with her sweetheart, Alex Eadie, 21, of West Decatur, in assuring magistrate T. D. Jones in Morals Court today that they will be married if they can obtain the consent of her brother with whom Thelma lives in Haysville.

The girl had been reported as missing, police said, and according to testimony was found in a room here.

Magistrate Jones ordered the couple held over.

THE TOWN DOCTOR "DOCTOR OF TOWNS" SAYS

An optimist never killed a good town and a pessimist never built one.

The rise of the city and the submergence of the smaller community appears as a menace only to those who shut their minds and cling sentimentally to old traditions. There never was a time when the small city had the opportunity that it has today.

The only thing that ever made a farmer different from any other man was his life of isolation and thanks to the thousands of good newspapers all over the country that isolation has gone. Other things have helped, but it is the newspaper in the average community that has made the biggest hicks on Broadway.

Common sense usually has a hard time of it when it is opposed to custom. Just because a thing has, in the past, been done a certain way, is the best sign that there is a different and better way to do it. When we quit changing, we're through.

But progress is largely a matter of consolidation. We change with much difficulty from the family to the tribe, from the tribe to the nation, etc. It is hard for the average business man to change; but change he must and change he will, one way or the other. He will change himself from a store keeper to a merchant, or progress will change him out of the store into the street. In nature, business and everything else, to cease to grow is to perish.

It is natural to work along lines of least resistance and "take it easy," but it don't get anybody except the other fellow anywhere. Few of us, sitting in a comfortable chair, desire to go up on the roof in a thunderstorm because we believe from there we can see the storm better. Yet that is what must be done if we are to know what's going on. The business man that is going to stay in the running will have to go upon the roof once in awhile.

ARE YOU BUYING WHILE THE BUYING IS GOOD? Read your newspapers—study the advertising, and then buy what you need while the buying is good.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Ideal Rules For Lovers Are Stated

Dr. Myers Counsels Young Couples Who'd Marry

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head, Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

My Dear Young Lovers: You are sure you love each other and that you always will love each other. You have known each other for several years. You have spent hours and hours together mingling among others and just with each other.

Each of you knows the other's family. Each sees that he can be companionable and comfortable visiting in the other's home, each knows that he can be a cordial host to members of the other's family in his own home when you will have been married.

You are both strong and healthy. Each could submit to the other a clear health certificate. Each knows himself to be fit physically to become a parent.

You have each cultivated habits of economy, habits of thrift. Each has learned to make self-denials financially and to save some money according to a definite plan. You both know what the probable earnings by the husband-to-be will amount to annually for the next several years. You have figured that you both can adjust yourselves happily to that income. You have agreed upon a plan for handling the family budget.

You have come from homes of similar cultural backgrounds, with similar customs and similar religious atmosphere.

The little differences which have arisen between you during these months and years you have been able to iron out by talking things over, each conceding something, making some compromises, never bringing up the matter again, once it has been settled.

All these months and years each has maintained dignity and reserve, never considering each other in a commonplace fashion, each maintaining toward the other all the while a high regard measuring up to ideals which you hold toward your much loved parents and which you will want your children by and by to hold toward you. Each other's personality, and all that goes to make it up, will be secretly respected. You never will allow your animal impulses to dominate your thoughts nor direct your actions. You will be such a master of yourself as to maintain continuously before marriage and after marriage, self-esteem and esteem for each other.

Your mutual fidelity, your self-discipline, your ideals and ability to live by them, once you pledge your lives to each other, will go far toward fitting you to continue to be mutual lovers after you have become man and wife. On the other hand, neither of you will be so foolish as to suppose you can make the other's habits and ideals over after marriage.

Don't let yourself be deluded by false doctrines about marriage. Doubts and difficulties enough will arise after you have been a man and wife several months or several years. Let them not arise now. But if they do and persist, you are pretty sure you are not fitted to be married to each other. Don't fool yourself to believe that you will find abiding happiness merely in each other. Few married couples do.

If you are planning just to live as two you will miss a lot of richness you deserve. Rearing some children will bring you, with all the sacrifices, cares and worries and anxieties, something which nothing else can bring.

Mayor Of Engis Believes Deaths Are Due To Fog

German Poison Gas Theory Abandoned By Mayor Of Small Belgium City

TELLS HOW MOST VICTIMS AFFECTED

(International News Service) LIEGE, Belgium, Dec. 6.—The mayor of Engis, the town near here where 14 of the 64 deaths from the mysterious fog malady have occurred, today gave the following interview to International News Service over the telephone:

"The whole of my little town is terror-stricken. My poor people do not know what to do, where to go to escape the invisible killer. Nobody seems to know the cause of this plague, but in our minds we associate it with the fog, which has lain over the valley for the past few days.

Many In Hospitals

"We have fourteen dead and 60 in the hospital, besides hundreds that are suffering from the disease but not enough to be given accommodation in the crowded hospital.

"The symptoms are pain in the throat and chest and a severe dry hacking cough that gives one no rest.

"I do not think the theory of German poison gas buried in the neighborhood corrupting the air very good. The German gas was not stored in the valley itself, but further on, and in any case it would not pollute the countryside for twenty miles.

Very Mysterious

"The fog has no smell and no apparent taste. My doctor considered the poison gas theory together with his colleagues, but he remains of the opinion that the affair is entirely mysterious.

"Today there will be a meeting of local authorities and doctors to look deeper into the cause.

"Families living in mansions, the Nuns in the convent and the poor all suffered. The people are keeping their houses shut, those who haven't fled, because they are afraid to let in the air. They haven't slept because they are afraid of death overtaking them, while if they were awake and felt the symptoms they could go to the hospital.

Five Children Are Found Asphyxiated

Five Youngsters Found Dead In Bedroom Of Home, Near Brussels

(International News Service) BRUSSELS, Dec. 6.—Five children were found asphyxiated by illuminating gas in a bedroom of their parents' home near Brussels today.

The asphyxiations had no connection with the "poison fog" deaths in the Meuse Valley of Belgium.

STRANGER REPORTED ILL WITH APPENDICITIS

The police authorities were notified today by the New Castle hospital authorities that Henry Kirkpatrick, of Carrolltown, Pa., the young man who became quite sick after securing a night's lodging at the police station a few nights ago and had to be removed to the hospital, would likely have to undergo an operation for appendicitis, due to his rather serious condition. The local authorities have managed to get in touch with an officer at Carrolltown, Pa., who is to notify the parents of the young man. In the meantime, plans are being made to go ahead with the operation.

Large Crowd See Play Friday At South Side Church

Interesting Performance Given At The First Congregational Church

Members of Miss Hannah Richards Class of the First Congregational Sunday school made a decided hit last evening as members of the cast of the play "The Spinsters' Convention" which was presented at church before an audience, which filled the church auditorium.

The place was well filled when the play got underway promptly at 8 o'clock. At the end of the show, the crowd was so enthused and thrilled that its members were reluctant to leave still looking for more laughs.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Josephine Jan Green, president—Miss Mildred Thomas; Priscilla Amigall Hodge, secretary—Rev. Rees T. Williams; Calamity Jane Higgins, treasurer—Miss Ethel Thomas; Rebecca Rachel Sharpe, Mrs. Joseph Leyde; Tiny Short—Mrs. Clarence Klingensmith; Mary Ann Fraddier—Miss Elizabeth Rees; Jerusha Matilda Spriggins—Miss Cecelia Hughes; Patience Desire Mann—Mrs. A. Hoyland; Sophia Stuckup—Mrs. Roy Nelson; Betsy Bobbett—Miss Melvina Davis; Charity Longface—Miss Lela Lewis; Cleopatra Belle Brown—Miss Hannah Richards; Polly Jane Pratt—Mrs. Wm. Jones; Violet Ann Ruggles—Mrs. J. Hubbard; Belinda Frances—Miss Loubard; Belinda Frances—Miss Loubard; Touchenot—Miss Margaret Evans; Hannah Susanna Biggerstaff—Miss Harriet Thomas; Professor Makeover—Griff Thomas; Professor's Assistant—Gethin Thomas; Ushers—Miss Dorothy Matthews and Mrs. George Bender.

Aides during the makeup and the lunch which followed the presentation of the show were as follows: Mrs. William M. Johns, Mrs. Griff Thomas, William Jones and Joseph Bakseyfield.

Former Resident's Condition Is Grave

Joe Glass, One-Time Blower Here, Ill At Chicago, Message Says

News of the serious illness of Joseph Glass, former blower for the Carnegie Steel company here, but more recently employed by the Illinois Steel company at Chicago, was learned by New Castle friends today. His recovery is doubtful, the message said.

It is understood that Mr. Glass has not been informed of the death of his mother, Mrs. Mary Glass, for whom funeral services are being held at East Brook this afternoon. Mrs. Glass died Wednesday.

Widely known throughout the New Castle district, the news of Mr. Glass' condition will be a shock to many. He left the city for the mid-west about six years ago.

Thumb Scratch Fatal To Father

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Dec. 5.—Funeral services will be held here Sunday, for George E. Pickens, 48, who died of blood poisoning, which developed from a scratch on his left thumb received while handling sags in a pottery. He leaves his widow and six children.

Water Fog Will Not Smother Any Person

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—"Nobody has ever been smothered in an ordinary water fog," Dr. William J. Humphreys, chief of meteorological physics at the U. S. weather bureau, declared today in commenting upon the mysterious fog which has killed 64 persons and made 300 others ill in Belgium's Meuse valley.

"The deaths may be attributed to two possible sources," he said, "one the breaking loose of gases from chemical factories, which is highly improbable; and second, the breaking loose of some hidden store of wartime gas which is possible but also improbable."

He said there is a type of fog that prevails in the vicinity of the Rocky mountains "which is feared by the Indians but their fear is more romance than fact."

Dr. Humphreys said a block of fog 100 feet long, six feet high and three feet broad has been measured and found to contain one-seventh of a glass of water "which can not smother anybody."

He personally believes the Belgians might have been chilled when they ventured out into the very cold and heavy fog and died from congestion of the lungs or some other chronic cause, superinduced by chills.

"If you have a wet fog and the temperature is low and you are out in it, you are in danger of being chilled," he said.

Over Hundred Children Hear Library Stories

Children's Librarian Delights Children With Tales Of Adventure, Friday

One hundred and five youngsters gathered in the children's room of the local public library on Friday evening after school hours and listened with rapt attention to the tale of "The Old Woman and the Fish" as told by Miss Alice Joyce, children's librarian.

Another tale the children heard last night was "The Apple of Contentment." Miss Joyce read several poems from "Peacock Pie."

The stories were repeated three times so that all the children who came to the library for story hour could hear them. The room that was especially prepared and decorated for story hour use is large but not large enough to accommodate all the children at the same time.

Then too, the children don't all get out of school at the same hour.

Next Friday evening the following hours will be observed for story hour: First group at 3:25, second group at a quarter to 4 and the third group at 4:20.

Sale Of Seals Brings Results

Second Week Of Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale Is Underway

Hundreds and hundreds of letters containing checks and cash are flowing into the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society headquarters on East street in response to the many hundreds of Christmas seal sheets sent to citizens of New Castle and Lawrence County.

By purchasing these little penny stamps funds are furnished the local society with which tuberculosis will be fought during 1931. The sole means of support of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society is through the Christmas seal sale.

Friday concluded the first week of the 1930 sale and the response coming in from local people and county people was gratifying to say the least. It shows that the fight for the cure and prevention of tuberculosis has the support of a large host of local people.

Collision Occurs At Rose Point Bridge

Mrs. Mae Aul, of Kaylor, Pa., is in the Jameson Memorial hospital, having been injured in an automobile accident occurring at the narrow bridge at Rose Point, Friday evening.

According to report Mr. and Mrs. Aul, the former operating the automobile, were nearly across the narrow bridge, three cars were lined ready to cross the bridge, the second car suddenly cut around the first auto colliding with the Aul car. The accident occurred about 6:45.

Mrs. Aul was the only one injured. Following the accident she was removed to the Jameson Memorial hospital. Mrs. Aul received lacerations about the head and face. She will probably return to her home today.

Yule Stories For Children

On the following dates, Christmas stories will be told at three branches of the New Castle free public library, by Miss Alice Joyce, children's librarians.

East side—Monday, December 15, after school.

South side—Wednesday, December 17, after school.

Mahoningtown—Saturday, December 20, at ten o'clock in the morning.

TRIO VISITS POLICE STATION TO SEE PAL, AND ALL DRAW FINES

ROCHESTER, Pa., Dec. 6.—Dick Dooley, 30, Freedom, arrested by Beaver county detectives and state police on the Rochester-Freedom road, after finding number tickets and money in his car, was held for court under $500 bail on charge of conducting a lottery. Dooley is a pickup man in the numbers racket the officers said.

While officers were questioning Dooley at the police station, Jacob Weiss and Ernest Wolfe, Rochester, and John McMahon, Monaca, arrived to learn the cause of his arrest. Searching them the officers found some numbers tickets and they were each charged with gambling and fined $10 and costs by Justice Lewis.

GUARDIAN APPOINTED

The Lawrence Savings and Trust Company was appointed guardian for Dorothy Roberts, minor child of Viola Roberts, deceased, by court this morning.

Europe Blanketed Under Dense Fog

Death And Financial Losses As Result Of Impenetrable Fog Today

ENTIRE CONTINENT REPORTS BIG FOG

(International News Service) Causing death and huge financial losses, impenetrable fog blanketed many sections of Europe today, paralyzing sea and air traffic and wiping out more than three-score lives in Belgium.

In the historic Meuse valley from Liege to Namur, 64 persons were killed and 300 taken to hospitals as the result of a mysterious poisonous element in the fog.

The shipping ports of Germany, France and England were tied up by the heavy mist, while in the English Channel scores of vessels, including large ocean liners, swung at anchor rather than court destruction by pushing through the wall of fog.

Reports from International News Service correspondents all over Europe indicated the fog was one of the most extensive and destructive in years.

Rev. Cox Makes Elks' Memorial Address Sunday

Lodge Tomorrow Night Pays Its Respects To Over 250 Departed Members

Father James R. Cox, pastor of Old St. Patrick's church in Pittsburgh and prominent as a radio speaker will make the principal address at the annual memorial service of the New Castle Lodge No. 69, B. P. O. Elks, to be held Sunday evening in the lodge temple. The service starts at 8 o'clock.

Exalted Ruler Edward P. Ryan will preside during the opening ceremonies and special quartet and duet numbers will be sung. The closing ceremonies will be conducted by Mr. Ryan and other officers of the lodge.

Respect of the members will be paid to nine departed brethren who have died during the year just past, as well as to nearly 250 other whose names are listed on the lodge's roll of departed members.

Nye Committee Checks Expense Sheets On File

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Dec. 6.—Three representatives of the Nye Senate Campaign Funds Investigating Committee were busy at the State Election Bureau here today, checking over expense accounts of the general election. At the beginning of the week a single representative of the committee came here to examine primary election statements.

Since the check of primary expense accounts, the expense account of the Republican State Committee and several other large reports have been filed. It is these that are now being examined by the investigators from Washington.

WILL LEAVE FOR DEER HUNTING TRIP

The following South Siders will leave sometime tomorrow for Elk county where they will spend a few days hunting deer: Frank Mack, Michael Fazzone, Steve Lasky, Edward Genock, Danny DeFazio and Joseph Nocera. They will make the trip by automobile.

Book Comes Back To Library After Nine Years Of Wandering

Wandering back from a nine year journey, covers intact and all pages accounted for, a library book was returned to the New Castle public library the other day through the courtesy of a local merchant. He reported that the book had been left in his store, he did not know when or by whom.

The book was borrowed in September 1921, by a borrower whose card was still in the book pocket and whose name is not now even in the city directory. Where the book has been in the meantime will probably always be a mystery.

Cranking Starts Auto In Motion; Runs Over Man

A. S. Wetmore Not Badly Hurt As Moving Machine Passes Over Him

When the car he was cranking on East street Friday afternoon suddenly darted forward and knocked him over, A. S. Wetmore, East North street resident, sustained painful but not serious injuries. One of the wheels passed over his body.

The machine was parked facing downward on the grade between Falls and North, and was set in motion just as soon as Mr. Wetmore had whirled the crank. The car stopped before going far.

He was treated by a physician shortly after. It is believed he suffered no internal injuries.

CLUB OF BOYS CARVING SOAP

Twenty or more boys of the Benjamin Franklin junior high school will meet on Tuesday afternoon of next week during the school club period, to carve soap cakes.

Soap carving is a popular diversion with these boys and they are getting to be quite the sculptors. Mice, elephants, men, dogs and cats are often carved out of the cakes, after being traced with pencil on the outside.

Girls are not quite so interested in soap carving. Last year, however, there were some girls in the club but it was found that the boys will take the art more seriously and really make presentable objects.

Former Premier Of France To Attempt Cabinet Formation

(International News Service) PARIS, Dec. 6.—Senator Louis Barthou, former premier, today accepted "in principle" the task of forming a new cabinet to succeed the government of Andre Tardieu.

Called upon by President Doumergue, M. Barthou said he would consult with former premiers Raymond Poincare and Aristide Briand, as well as M. Tardieu and other prominent political leaders, and announce his definite decision tomorrow morning.

Reno Back With Game He Killed

D. N. Reno, New Castle post office clerk living on Junior high street is the latest addition to the hall of fame for Lawrence county deer hunters, inasmuch as he came back home today with a doe shot Thanksgiving day and a six-point buck killed last Wednesday.

Reno's hunting ground included Elk and Forest county. The trip to the woods formed a part of his annual vacation.

F. G. C. Club

The F. G. C. club members assembled at the home of Mrs. Ben Thomas, at Albion Stop Friday evening. Cards and chat were pastimes, and the club prize was awarded to Mrs. Barton Langworthy at the close of the game. A delicious repast was served at a table nicely decorated for the occasion, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. Mildred Johns and Miss Kathryn Marks.

The next meeting of the members will be held on December 19 with Mrs. William P. Voga, 1002 North Mercer Christmas party, and the exchange of gifts will take place. Also, baskets for the needy will be arranged and distributed at this time.

List County Women Who Finished Home Economics Courses

New Classes And Schedule Start In County December 15; Work Is Interesting

Names of Lawrence county women who have completed the clothing work project supervised by Miss Ruth Clayton of State College, were announced today by the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association. The work was well received and proved interesting and profitable to the women who enrolled for the course.

On December 15 a new schedule of home economics work will be started in the county. When definite arrangements have been made this schedule will be made public. Women interested in forming classes may receive information by writing or calling Miss Dorothy Elter at the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension office in the city.

The following women in Lawrence County have satisfactorily completed the special clothing work supervised by Miss Ruth Clayton, of State College, Pa.

Wayne Township:—Mrs. Ellis Guy, Mrs. Paul H. Elliott, Mrs. Emma Price, Mrs. Harry Kelly, Mrs. James Street, Mrs. William Walton, Mrs. J. F. Young, Mrs. Iva Price, Mrs. Walter Steele, Mrs. W. R. Walker.

Rev. P. C. Pearson Will Preach Special Sermon Sunday At 11

"The Latest Sensation in the American Religious World" will be the subject of the sermon Sunday at 11 a. m. in the Trinity Episcopal church. "What Is It About? What Type of Personalities are Involved? How Far Does the Personal Element Enter Into the Case? What Principles are At Stake?" These are some of the questions that will be answered by Rev. Phillip C. Pearson, rector.

Rev. Pearson worked directly under Bishop Manning at St. Agnes chapel, Trinity Parish, reporting to him individually and, as a result, Mr. Pearson was then transferred to the mother church, "Old Trinity" at the head of Wall street, continuing under Bishop Manning. These opportunities in New York City, coupled with five years' previous residence in the metropolitan area brought the local rector in touch

Boilermaker Hurt At Pennsy Shops

Suffers Eye Injury When Struck By Flying Bit Of Steel In Enginehouse

A flying piece of steel struck the left eye of George F. McConnell, East Washington street, Pennsylvania railroad boilermaker, while he was at work in the Cherry street enginehouse of the company, Friday evening. The injury, while painful, is not believed to be a serious one.

McConnell was rushed to a physician for treatment immediately after the accident.

The nearest approach to the English expression, "It isn't cricket," is the comment inspired by miniature golf.

The man who first called it "easy money" must be the same fellow who invented "easy payments."

J. T. Clarke, Jr., Injured In West

Mrs. J. T. Clarke, Jr., of Sunnyside, near the Seventh ward, received a message last night that her husband had been injured while at work at Ocheyedan, Iowa. His hand and arm were crushed and broken in a corn shelling machine. Mr. Clarke had been working in Iowa for some time. Mrs. Clarke left at once for Iowa, and will bring her husband here as soon as possible.

Noted Journalist To Speak At Westminster On Tuesday

Don C. Seitz, Veteran Newspaperman, On Platform

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 6.—Don C. Seitz, veteran newspaper reporter, editor, business manager and advertising manager, will speak to the students and faculty members of Westminster College next Tuesday evening in the college chapel.

Mr. Seitz will take as his subject, "Keeping Ahead of the Headlines." Born in Portage, O., Mr. Seitz moved to New York as a young man when he early found a liking for newspaper work. After serving his apprenticeship as a reporter and a correspondent, we find him as city editor of the Brooklyn Eagle in 1892 and as managing editor of the Brooklyn World a year later.

He then became identified with the New York World, where he served in various capacities from 1898 to 1926. He served for a time as an associate editor of The Outlook, since then contributing frequent reviews and special articles.

Mr. Seitz specializes in political subjects, being one of the best informed men in American politics. He recently published a book entitled "Also Rans—Men Who Missed the Presidency."

He received the honorary degree of master of arts from St. Lawrence University in 1906 and the doctor of letters degree from Bowdoin in 1921. William and Mary College made him an honorary member of Phi Beta Kappa. He is a member of the Authors' and Grolier Clubs.

Mr. Seitz, after more than 25 years in the newspaper and magazine fields, has a fund of material for public addresses. He is a stimulating speaker and his unconventional way of talking and the human touch he gives to his lectures have won him the admiration of audiences throughout the nation.

Frosh-Soph Debate At College Tonight

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 6.—The annual freshman-sophomore debate at Westminster College

is scheduled for tonight in the Little Theater at eight o'clock.

The sophomores will uphold the affirmative and the freshmen the negative of the proposition. Resolved: That the states should enact laws providing for unemployment insurance.

The sophomore team will be composed of Forrest Eakin, New Castle; Herbert Smith, New Castle; and Thomas Herriott, New Wilmington. The freshman team will include Frank Goff, New Wilmington; Wilbur Christy, Pittsburgh; and Eric Thompson, New Wilmington.

Judges for the contest are: Dr. G. H. Taylor, head of the ancient language department; Professor Ben Euwema, English department; and Professor Marshall, history department.

Dr. C. A. Dawson, head of the department of English, will preside at the debate.

Jewelry Robber In Los Angeles Gets $25,000 In Loot

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—Police today were seeking a well-dressed bandit who last night "robbed" Abraham Moss, manufacturing jeweler, of $25,000 worth of diamonds and especially. Leisurely entering Moss' office in the heart of the business section, the bandit asked to see some stones. He drew a revolver, forced the jeweler to open the safe and scooped up the entire stock of diamonds and several watches. After binding the jeweler's wrists with wire the gunman locked him in his office and left.

Four Nurses Taking Exams In Pittsburgh

Four nurses of the New Castle Hospital left early this morning for Pittsburgh where they will take the State Board Examination for Nurses.

THE QUESTION BOX

CENTRAL PRESS WASHINGTON BUREAU

Answers to questions on information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O., and enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions, nor will the estimated value of old coins be given.

Who framed or outlined the constitution of Oklahoma when it was admitted to statehood?

Agitation for statehood in Oklahoma was begun in 191, but it was not until 1906 that Congress passed a bill that the Oklahoma and Indian territories be admitted to the Union as one state under the name Oklahoma, if such a union were approved by each territory. The union being approved, delegates from both territories met at Guthrie and drafted a constitution which was later adopted by the people. It was probably the most radical instrument of its kind ever adopted in any state of the Union, and several times during the session the convention came into conflict with the wishes of President Roosevelt. Oklahoma officially entered the Union Nov. 16, 1907.

What is the chief automobile center of the world?

Of the world's output of 4,600,321 automobiles in 1925, 3,131,524 were produced in the state of Michigan. There are 54 motor car factories in this state, each with an output over $1,000,000 a year.

How many states have congressmen-at-large? How are they elected and why do they hold office?

At the present time only one state has congressmen-at-large and that is Illinois with two. A congressman-at-large is a member of the U. S. house of representatives elected by the voters of the entire state and not as is customary by those of congressional districts. Such congressmen are elected under the apportionment acts of congress and the election of a congressman-at-large is merely a device adopted to give each state the proper number of representatives under the acts until the state should be redistricted. Some states have had two such members and several one.

How did the United States dollar mark ($) originate?

The dollar mark, as it is used today, comes to us from the combination of the two letters U and S, which were placed one atop the other on the reverse side of the United States dollar. It is believed that the symbol in its present form followed when the loop of the U was dropped to make it easier to write.

Are there more men than women in the United States?

While the male and female totals of the 1930 census are not as yet available, there are more men than women in the United States. According to the 1920 census, there were 53,900,431 males and 51,810,189 females. This proportion will hold good approximately for the 1930 census also.

Peter's Adventures

BLACK ANT HILL FALLS

Could it be possible that Busy's curiosity was getting the better of her wisdom? Instead of running to the rescue of the Queens and children she lingered on at the foot of Black Ant Hill.

"What are the enemy up to now?" she asked of Peter.

"They are pillaging the city!" called Peter. "Already some of the Redskins have made their way to the nursery in Black Ant Hill and are coming out again with their booty."

"What have they stolen?" Busy's voice was distressed.

"Cocoons!" cried Peter. "But the Redskins are carrying the little white bundles tenderly. I don't believe they intend to hurt them. Oh, oh! Now the enemy is swarming by the hundreds into Black Ant Hill. They are rushing all the gates. The guards are overwhelmed! My word. It is a wonder the fierce Red Ants do not crush each other. Busy, have you thought what may happen if they discover the tunnel?"

"You don't know the half of the worry I've had in this last moment. Save yourself, boy. You can help the poor Black Ants no longer. I'm off on a rescue party. If it is not too late, and we have any luck, we'll escape to the grassy meadow. I shall lead the Queens by a round about path that ends at an old oak tree. Follow me, if you can, and quickly. I hope you don't lose your way. Good luck!"

"Till we meet again," cried Peter as Busy sped into the tunnel. Peter mopped his forehead.

"Whew! That was a close call! I hope dear Busy makes it!"

Next: "Off With Their Heads."

WEEKLY LETTER

The Castleton Monday, Dec. 8, 12:15 to 1:30 P. M.

Fellow Rotarian:

As far as we know, we will have the usual bountiful luncheon. We guarantee nothing, though.

Those of you who heard George Pever speak before on his classification, know that we will have an interesting program again Monday, when you learn that George will speak on "Grain Marketing."

George will trace the process of marketing from purchase of the grain from the farmer, through the Grain Exchange, to the ultimate consumer.

This will be especially interesting to our farmer friends and it is suggested that each member bring a farmer guest. If you care to act as a farmer and have no one particularly in mind, call Harold McCulloch, phone 2972, and he will get in touch with one for you.

Bill Bingham attended Beaver Falls Rotary.

CARL E. PAISLEY, Sec'y.

Junior Order To Distribute Aid

Plan To Present Baskets Of Foodstuffs To 100 Families

The welfare committee of Castle Council, No. 365, Junior Order of United American Mechanics today continued a canvass of New Castle in order to follow out a practical plan adopted at a meeting of council members Thursday evening to bring Christmas cheer to needy families in the city.

"The J. O. U. A. M." R. D. Snyder, chairman of the welfare committee of the order said, "will distribute a two weeks' supply of food to 100 needy families."

The distribution, to be conducted by the special committee is expected to start on December 24.

The committee is comprised of Snyder, W. F. Johnston, J. O. U. A. M. recording secretary, J. E. Miller, financial secretary of the council; W. H. Palmer, council treasurer; Clarence McConnell, councilor of Castle Council No. 365, E. C. Snyder, Frank Hiler, Caleb Green, James Everhart, and Joseph Lyle.

The committee will have distribution headquarters in the Book-Leyde mortuary on Neshannock avenue. The food will be sent to the families in trucks and cars of council members.

A typical supply of food which will be presented to needy families is described by the council welfare committee chairman as follows:

Half bushel potatoes, sixteen cans vegetables, four pounds rice, four pounds beans, peck of apples, three loaves bread, pound candy, one dozen oranges, five pounds sugar pound coffee.

Seats on the stock exchange are said to be costing considerably less now than they were a year and a half ago, but of course they aren't as soft as they were then.—The Kalamazoo Gazette.

Sharon Group To Have Charge Of Dinner Program

Promise Fine Entertainment For Christmas Party Of Consistory Dinner Club

Announcement was made today by General Chairman William J. Moffatt of the Consistory Dinner club, that the Sharon division will have charge of the program at the next dinner dance to be held Friday evening, December 12. This will be in the nature of a Christmas party.

G. Verne Atherton, an official of the Westinghouse Electric company, is chairman of the program committee for the Sharon group and promises a fine program for the occasion.

In addition to furnishing the program, the Sharon committee promises a big attendance of members and their wives and sweethearts at the party, and they will be given a big hand by the New Castle members on this occasion.

Grove City members had charge of the last dinner dance program and presented an exceptional program, so the Sharon members will have to look to their laurels.

Reservations are now being made for the evening, following the receipt of invitations from the committee.

Seats on the stock exchange are said to be costing considerably less now than they were a year and a half ago, but of course they aren't as soft as they were then.—The Kalamazoo Gazette.

Senior High Pupils Score In Operetta

It was the charming ways of a pretty maid that caused the Nautical Knot to be such a tangle of complexities and such a gloriously successful two act operetta.

Detectives solve seemingly unsolvable puzzles and mix-ups by following this simple rule—"Look for the woman!"

And looking back on the operetta presented by the high school chorus last night in the school auditorium, it is all so very simple. Of course it was the coquettish smile of a bewitching young Miss that was to blame for every sigh, every smile.

Dorothy Sankey, Harry Powell, Julius Bloom and the scores of other high school students who took part in the musical presentation certainly deserve the applause and praise received last evening. It went off smoothly—nothing stilted about any of it. The musical numbers were rendered in expert form and the acting could not have been better.

Just once in a blue moon does an astronomer discover a new star flickering in the skies, but every year the high school dramatic directors discover dozens of stars in the student body. This year is no exception, as was shown by the acting of Dorothy Sankey, Bertha Taylor, Harry Powell, Sam Dennis and Julius Bloom.

Synopsis

The haughty belle of Barnstable is proud as she is beautiful. All the sailors are hopelessly in love with her but she scorns them all. But an artist comes along and falls in love with the proud one and she returns his affection. The sailors kidnap him and carry him to sea.

A gentle dame is loved by the bashful shipmate who induces the boatswain to propose to the dame in his name. But the sailor proposes to the wrong girl—and that causes plenty of trouble and heartbreaks.

One year later the sailors return from the voyage. The mistake is explained and the artist and belle are reunited, the bashful sailor becomes engaged, all the sailors get girl friends and the scene ends with the promise of many happy weddings.

State Prosecutor Of Vienna, Drops Charges Against
Charles A. Levine

(International News Service)
VIENNA, Dec. 6.—Criminal procedure against the American Transatlantic flier Charles A. Levine were dropped by the State Prosecutor today owing to "the lack of criminal action."

Levine has been held in jail here on police suspicion that he was concerned in the counterfeiting of French coins. He maintained that the plates made for him by a Viennese engraver were merely to be used in striking off medals to be distributed "for advertising purposes."

Levine was elated when informed he was free.
"The whole affair was a police blunder," he declared in leaving his cell.

ABE MARTIN On Poke Beasley And The Times

MR. BEASLEY CONGRATULATES AN OLE NEIGHBOR

Mr. Poke Beasley, who'll be remembered by some of our older an' wealthier citizens who used to have their phantoms washed at the O. K. livery barn, stopped off here for a few hours this week to renew old acquaintances. Mr. Beasley wuz on his way from New York to California to close a gigantic grape deal, an' spoke in glowin' terms of the prosperous condition of the country. He said the pre-election newspaper item about the B. & O. buyin' $185,000,000 worth of steel rails is absolutely true. Mr. Beasley says the farmer is especially prosperous, an' that he could recall no previous year when the turnip crop even approached its present size. In a little talk before our chamber of commerce, Mr. Beasley said, "Labor, of course, is only havin' a little well earned breathin' spell, but when the wheels begin to whiz the workman'll return to his task refreshed an' fed up on loafin'." While banditry has been an awful drain on our banks, the manner in which some of them have remained solvent reflects great credit on the resourcefulness of our wonderful country. I'm like President Hoover. Ther must be no let down on our manner o' livin'. Some means must be provided to keep the radios, gas heatin' plants, an' automobiles goin'. The poor must take no backward step. All county office holders should be made to turn their extra fees into a gigantic fund to be used in maintaining the average family in its accustomed style. Let us consider the demoralization brought about by takin' liquor from our people an' refrain from meddlin' with their radios, cars, an' other present day necessities. An' it's foolish to suppose that a nation that has been used to drinkin' varnish an' potater alcohol for years will be satisfied with light wine an' even 6-7-8 beer. The Eighteenth amendment is here to stay, jest the same, as the Fifteenth amendment, an' it is jest about as effective. While banditry is a great circulatin' medium, the loss of human life scarcely justifies it, an' your chamber should use its influence to provide a better method o' distributin' wealth. Universal pensions would do the work. We've got a great country here an' don't know it. I wish our farmers could see a Gobi desert agriculturist, or pay a visit to the perpendicular farms of fer away Tibet. I wish they could see a naked Virgin island farmer an' try to walk over his volcanic farm. I wish they could see what would be called a well-to-do Tibetan farmer sewed up fer the winter an' milkin' a yak. In no country on the face of the earth 'cept our own kin be heard the strains of some celebrated orchestra, the voice of some eminent speaker, comin' from the cozy home of ever' farmer. An' the odor o' fryin' bacon is sometimes noticeable. An' who isolated as he is, has a better right to a radio an' automobile? The farmer might cut down on his bacon, but let's not deny him modern means of transportation an' communication with the outside world. No sir, nobuddy's got a real license to kick. A country that turns up its nose at carrots hain't in a very bad way."

Bo Broadway By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—A Madison avenue chemist has been putting up a brave fight against the New Order of Things. He has refused to turn his place of business into a sublimated five-and-ten-cent-store. You couldn't buy cheap fiction there, gum drops, gents' neckwear, ice cream or glue. He had no soda fountain, with boys in white jackets dispensing sandwiches and coffee.

I passed his place the other day. To let him gleamed through the murky windows. There was no room for a shop of that kind. You can't see olives to cows.

FAR FROM PERFECT
The average radio announcer is not as good as he thinks he is. He couldn't be. Nothing human can scale that dizzy peak of perfection. He is particularly offensive when he pronounces the names of Italian, French and German music composers. I have heard Beethoven, Bach, Mendelssohn and Mozart announced in a manner that made me feel I'd like to shoot the next man who mentioned their names.

Pretty soon, some day, these birds will learn that the ordinary everyday American pronunciation is, for all the best, when they pull the other stuff they're trotting out a line of goods that carries no appeal.

Simplicity is the goal upon which the eyes of every artist should be trained. And it makes no difference whether the artist be painting pictures, scribbling music scores, announcing a radio broadcast or selling fertilizer for rose bushes.

LIVE IN HOPES
"Lydia Pinkham" backed the Reception Committee member up into a corner and explained her method: "I take little Tommy Kelly," she said. "Tommy comes to us a bad boy. We sit him down and play Beethoven to him on the piano. He leaves the room rejuvenated, reborn—his youthful mind and heart purged and sweet."

"It's the same way with little Ike Cohen. He's as wicked as Tommy when we get him. One hour of Mozart and he tiptoes from our precincts, an embryo Nathan Straus—a Moses Montefiore in the making."

So live that some day you may hold down a job as member of the Reception Committee at a Newspaper Club Ball.

Clendenning

By LOGAN CLENDENNING, M. D.

The square meal—the balanced meal of the vitamins—the meal not out of cans, but which contained all the necessary vitamins in the form of the familiar foods—the meal we sat down to yesterday—had in the upper left-hand corner of the square meal table vitamins A and D in butter and cream. In the upper right-hand corner vitamin B in the form of milk. In the lower left-hand corner vitamin C in the form of green vegetables and fruits. In lower right hand corner of the table, vitamin PP or B2, in the form of lean meat and cheese.

You see it is a really square meal. You get vitamins in every balanced meal.

What happens if you lose the balance? Suppose you do not eat the upper left and right-hand corners of the square meal. This is more disastrous for children than for grown-ups.

Lack of vitamin A brings on an inflammation of the eyes, called Xerophthalmia. It occurs almost exclusively in infants.

Lack of vitamin D causes rickets. This is a disease causing softening of the bones in children.

Lack of vitamin B causes many disturbances. In the diet of our climate and civilization it is seldom absent from the diet of adults because it is present in yeast. It is also present in the shell of cereals. If not eaten regularly by adults a paralysis of the nerves, called beriberi, results. Lack of the proper amount of vitamin B in infants' diet results in retarded growth.

The little folk also suffer with the grown-ups when it comes to the lower left-hand corner of the square meal table. This is where vitamin C present in fruits and milk and vegetables is located. It causes scurvy. Both children and adults need fresh fruit, milk and vegetables.

Lack of the vitamins found in lean meat, cheese and eggs is responsible for a disease called pellagra. It occurs only in adults. Many cases were recognized some years ago in southern United States and also southern Europe—Italy, Greece and Bulgaria. It is characterized by an eruption on the skin, intestinal disturbances and sore mouth and tongue. It may progress to a fatal termination.

Officers Confiscate Early Holiday Stuff

"Do your Christmas shopping early" isn't intended to apply to the liquor market apparently. Because it isn't, Joe Stella of 428 Friendship street, is in the toils of the law today, his bottled sunshine has been poured down the sewer, his still has been destroyed, and his mash spoiled with varnish.

Joe was apparently getting ready for the early Christmas trade, according to County Detective Peck Lee. He had a 20 gallon still set up, plenty of mash, and the finished product was increasing.

Enter the law. Lots of it. Lieutenant Pete Hilliers, County Detective Lee, two state officers, Constable A. Sharp Leslie and B. J. Rocks.

The still was secreted back of a hidden panel in the cellar wall, while the product was tucked away here and there. Eighty gallons of the stuff was destroyed. One hundred gallons of mash made unfit for use, the still confiscated, ten gallons of liquor held for evidence, and Joe was held for the alderman.

DISCOVERY NIGHT TUESDAY

Foster's Weather Forecast

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—First week of December is expected to average above normal temperatures and below normal precipitation for North America; storm wave expected to cross continent during week centering on 4 will be of mild force and cause greatest extremes of temperatures to be above normal during storm period; after passage of this storm wave, temperatures will be expected to move to lower levels, precipitation increase and a two weeks period of wintry conditions, with greater than usual extremes, cover the entire continent. Storm wave expected to cross continent during week centering on 8 will be of severe force, but not of the dangerous type; following this storm center temperatures are expected to take a sharp drop and killing frosts move farther than usual into southern states as cold wave centering on 12 moves eastward. Storm wave of moderate force expected to cross continent during week centering on 15, will be another breeder of wintry weather and probably cause greatest extremes below normal temperatures of month just following storm center; this cold wave, while expected to reach greater extremes, is not expected to last as long as cold wave following storm center of 8.

During first part of December precipitation is expected to be heaviest along Atlantic coast; as month advances area of heaviest precipitation is expected to spread westward, causing heaviest average precipitation during last half of month in west halves of sections 1, 3 and 5 and in Rocky mountain country. Ample moisture is expected over all of North America during the coming winter; areas that will suffer most from shortage of spring subsoil moisture will be those that froze before sufficient moisture was received to furnish subsoil supply. Some of these areas will benefit from open periods of winter that will permit considerable moisture to seep into the soil, but most of these areas must depend upon surface moisture being held until spring thaw, as those same areas are expected to receive below normal moisture during spring months.

December 8 to 15 a very strong combination of heliocentric positions and movements of planets will occur; heliocentric means to use the sun as the center. During this period Jupiter, Mars, Venus, Sun and Saturn are in nearly a straight line and form opposition and conjunctions with the sun and each other. Fortunately the earth will not be far enough advanced on its trip around the sun at this time to be in a position to intercept the unusually strong line of force that undoubtedly will be moving between the sun and those four of his principal cohorts. Large sunspots will

ATTACK OCCURS ON NORTH SIDE

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 6.—"Carnation Jimmy" Garafalo was shot down and seriously wounded and Jerry King, 25, was wounded in the leg, today when the rat-a-tat of gangster guns roared in the North Side district.

Garafalo was backed against a wall near the North Side police station by four gangsters who opened fire. "Carnation Jimmy" whipped out his own gun and, with a companion who also had been backed against the wall, returned the fire.

The companion escaped when the opposing gangsters fled after King, aided by police to have led the attack on Garafalo, was wounded in the exchange of shots. When police arrived, they found only Garafalo, King had been assisted into a car by his three aides and had been driven away, witnesses said.

Garafalo was taken to Allegheny General hospital suffering from two bullet wounds in the chest. King arrived a short time later and applied for treatment.

Both men were placed under arrest and a guard was placed over each.

Police Captain Anthony Block declared that Garafalo and King were leaders of rival "mobs."

Wets Are Routed In Congress Vote

Lose By Overwhelming Vote
In First Class In New Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Sending both the wets and the insurgents into disorderly retreat, the House last night passed the billion-dollar postoffice-treasury appropriation bill and sent it to the senate as the first piece of major legislation completed by either house so far this session.

The widely-heralded Democratic-Republican co-operative movement functioned so well in the house that the bill was rushed to completion with only one amendment, which was an administration affair.

House wets staged a battle for a series of amendments to the treasury phases of the bill, aimed at stopping the government practice of poisoning industrial alcohol and at slashing prohibition enforcement funds, but never at any time mustered more than 54 votes out of a total of about 350 and never threw any kind of a fright into the overwhelming dry majority.

In fact, the wets, making their first anti-prohibition stand in congress since the November elections, made less progress than they made regularly in the previous three sessions of congress. The additional votes they won in the November elections, however, will not be available until the new congress convenes in December, 1931.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 6.—An almost unbelievable story of torture and cruelty, sobbed out by his two younger sons, today led to the arrest of Paul Payer and his oldest son, Louis, 24, on disorderly conduct charges while another son, Otto, 15, was taken to Homestead hospital suffering from a beating alleged to have been inflicted by his father and elder brother.

Otto was rescued by police after two younger brothers raced a half mile from their home to the nearest telephone and told officers that Otto, bound hand and foot with a bull rope, was being beaten with a heavy strap by their father and older brother.

Released from his bonds, Otto told police his father had ordered him to get some coal. Because he knew of no way to get the coal, except by stealing it, Otto said he refused and the beating followed.

ASK RESIDENTS TO AID PROJECT

Work of gathering in used toys to be distributed to the children of worthy ex-service men was started this morning by the Harry L. McBride post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The work is being taken care of by a committee headed by Ralph H. Montgomery, chairman; Carl Staeber, George Thompson, Clarence A. Leslie, George Christoff, Leslie Woolley, John Morgan and Frank Conella.

Through the courtesy of the Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross, the use of their rooms has been contributed as a place where local residents may leave articles in this worthy effort.

Those who are unable to bring their toys in can have them called for by members of the committee by notifying Chairman Montgomery, phone 1463-J, or by getting in touch with any of the members of the committee.

In this way it is hoped to provide a merry Christmas for many little tots, who would not be visited by Santa Claus on Christmas eve.

Any usable toys, which can be fixed up and made presentable, are desired, and the vets ask local citizens to respond to their appeal. Articles of clothing may also be left with the committee and will be given to those badly in need of them.

Members of the ladies auxiliary of the post will assist in the work of gathering in the toys and fixing them up.

Fredonia School Gets Recognition

Mercer County Vocational Students To Broadcast Over KDKA

MERCER, Pa., Dec. 6.—The Fredonia Vocational School has been paid a distinctive honor by the state educational heads. The invitation to broadcast their working plans over KDKA at a date early in March is but a just recognition of their efforts.

The school is headed by Prof. F. A. Fruit with Prof. Stanley Fuhrer in charge of the department of agriculture. With the school men at the head of the affair the community recently put on a fair with exhibits of garden and farm produce and a show of pure bred live stock that would be a credit to any neighborhood in the state.

During the past year the boys and girls of the school who have met with those of other counties in competition of cattle judging and kindred pursuits have been winners.

Fredonia is one of the few vocational schools in the state and rates as a leader in this group.

KILLED AS CAR CRUSHES HIM AGAINST WALL

Peter Stone, 46, an employee of the Griffin Cement Company, was instantly killed early this morning when he was crushed against a brick wall by a car when the brakes failed to hold. The driver of the car, Joseph Adams, an insurance broker with offices in the Lafayette Building, was not held.

The accident occurred on Sixth street between Sycamore and Locust. According to witnesses, Stone attempted to cross the street in the middle of the block. Half way over, he saw Adams' sedan rapidly approaching. Adams claimed that he saw Stone when about a hundred feet away, and attempted to use his brakes. When they failed to stop the car, he steered to the right. Stone, bewildered, leaped into the path of the machine. He was caught by the

"Adams, old man, I hate to tell you, but I don't think our case has a leg to stand on. Granted that Stone was jay-walking. That's all that has kept you out of a criminal charge of manslaughter. As it is . . . well, your brakes were out of whack . . . and you know how juries are . . . family men, most of them . . ."

THE CASE COMES UP IN COURT

Attorney for Plaintiff: "Gentlemen of the jury, in summing up this case, I wish to point out again that this is a plain instance of negligence on the part of the driver of the car, the defendant. The defense attorney has tried to prove to you that the tragedy was unavoidable . . . that Peter Stone, bread-winner for a family of four was struck down by fate. But your witnesses have admitted that HAD THE BRAKES ON THE DEFENDANT'S CAR BEEN IN PROPER ADJUSTMENT he could have stopped in time, and the accident would not have happened . . . Judge: "In accordance with the verdict of the jury, the court directs the defendant to pay the sum of $15,000 to the plaintiff. And further-more, although this is a civil case, the court believes it is in its proper jurisdiction to direct the defendant that hereafter, so long as he or his family drives a machine, he shall see to it that at three month intervals the brakes on his car are placed in adjustment in order to avoid future accidents of this kind."

Special Service In Charge Of Womens Missionary So- ciety At Slippery Rock

Rev. Charles Z. Bell To Preach In First Presbyterian Church Pulpit

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 6.—Activities in the local churches Sunday are announced as follows:

SLIPPERY ROCK

Sunday school at 10:00 a. m.
Preaching service at 11:00 a. m.
with Rev. Elliott preaching to the adults on "In What Do I Glory?" To the children "A Unique Psalm."
Evening service at 7:45 p. m. with a special service conducted by the Womens Missionary society and led by Mrs. J. M. Houk. There will be short talks by Mrs. Clarence Friday, Mrs.
George Waller, Mrs. Elmer Houk;
a duet by Mrs. Howard Jones and Mrs. Reed Welhausen. Then the presentation of the pageant "50-50".
The cast includes six girls and four boys, taking the part of college students. It is a lively little playlet, and worth a half hour fine entertainment. Those taking part are: Misses Eleanor Wilson, Leonore Newton,
Naomi Steele, Isabel Steele, Norma
McNeil, Helen Isobel and Clyde Harper. James Wilson, Charles Rabberman and William Menzer.

PRESBYTERIAN

ing service at 10:45 a. m. with Rev.
Williams preaching on "More Garments from the Heavenly Wardrobe." B. Y. P. U. at 7:00 p. m. Evening worship at 7:45 p. m. with a sermon on "Fingerprints." This service will be in the nature of a celebration of revival meetings recently conducted in the Park Gate church, which resulted in over 60 conversions. The service will be followed by a baptismal rite.

CHURCH OF GOD

vice at 7:00 p. m. Varied song service consisting of solos, duets and snappy choruses by the congregation and choir. Half hour of epigrammatic discourse by the pastor at 8:30 on the subject "The Decisive Moment."

Zelienople Men Go Deer Hunting

ZELIENOPE, Dec. 6.—Local men who have gone deer hunting have had excellent luck, and several have returned home with deer. Edward Wehr, a member of the firm of Wehr Brothers, who conduct a meat market here, left Wednesday evening last week with a party of men from Butler for Medix Run, Elk county, and before 8 o'clock Thursday morning had a doe. He returned here and spent the remainder of the week with his family, and went back with the party Monday, and Wednesday evening this week returned with a buck. Mr. Wehr spends some time each season in Elk county with a party of six men from Butler,
where they have a cabin.

A. Homer Metz and Dr. A. E.
Whittaker spent several days at Penfield and Mr. Metz returned a few days ago with a doe.

Dr. R. G. Engle of New Castle street spent a few days in Venango county and has returned home with a four-point buck. He accompanied some friends there, also.

Other local people who are on a hunting trip and who will return to their homes soon are Mr. and Mrs.
P. V. Harper of New Castle street,
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harper of Harmony and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gallagher. This party goes each year to the northern part of the state and have been very successful in former seasons. Both Mrs. Harpers and Mrs. Gallagher take out a license and go hunting with their husbands.

Harry Davis Weds In The South

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 6.—Harry Davis, former resident of this city, brother of Mrs. Thomas Daley of South Ellwood Heights, was married in Birmingham, Ala., to Miss Emma Elliott of Birmingham and South Africa. The young couple motored to Chattanooga on their nuptial trip. They will spend their Christmas holidays with relatives and friends in this city.

Harry's small son Tommy, whose mother passed away about three years ago, has been making his home with Mr. and Mrs. Daley, but will return south with Mr. and Mrs. Davis after the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Sara Burrows Taken By Death

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 6.—Mrs.
Sara Burrows, aged 75, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs.
C. E. Anderson on Fountain avenue.
extension about 4:30 this morning.
Mrs. Burrows' many friends deeply feel her passing.

She is survived by two sons, William of Titusville and George of this city; three daughters, Mrs. T. J.
Henderson of Titusville, Mrs. C. E.
Anderson and Mrs. John Sloan of this city.

Funeral services will take place
Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Anderson home with Rev. R. A.
Little officiating. Interment will be made in the Locust Grove cemetery.

Yule Decorations On White Way Are Nearly Complete

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 6.—When the Christmas decorations on the great white way are completed, the street will present a lane of large palm trees, interlaced with glittering icicles, and whose trunks will be sprinkled with laurel roping.

The street is nearly completed
now, and already the changed scenery is lending a most fascinating air to the Christmas shopping. It will be so much easier to part with more money than one can afford for Christmas gifts, in these surroundings.

At the intersections the hemlock branches will be canopied with laurel roping, putting the finishing artistic touches to a beautiful Christmas trim. Several men who have been unemployed are cutting the branches in the daytime and doing the decorating at night. Efforts are being made to use red and green globes alternately in the lights up Lawrence avenue.

Local Lad Bound Over To Court

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 6.—Summoned before Squire VanGorder Friday night on a charge of stealing a car, Frank Taylor of Hillside avenue, was bound over to the March term of court.

According to testimony presented by Everett Garwig, an eye witness, he saw young Taylor, who is 20 years of age, rush past him climb into the car which was parked in front of the W. W. Seidel home on Fifth street Thursday night, and drive off.

The car is said to be owned by Arthur Duncan of this city, and was recovered later, the arrest being made by Kenneth Musser, member of the local police.

Both Musser and Garwig testified against the Taylor lad who pleaded guilty. However, he was held for the March term of court on the charge of larceny.

Four New Directors Elected By Chamber

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 6.—The results of the recent election by the Chamber of Commerce resulted in four new directors, being named who will be added to the roster for active duty on January 1. They are:
Messrs. B. G. Hancher, Earl Davidson, C. A. Adams and J. I. Porter.

The expiring directors are: Messrs.
Elmer Conner, C. P. Cloak, Lowell
Monroe and W. C. Martin.

These directors were to have been announced at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce scheduled to take place Friday night in the Country club, but owing to the necessity of postponing them on account of bad roads, the news was released through regular chamber channels.

Grand Jury Frees Ellwood City Woman

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 6.—The Butler county grand jury refused to indict Mrs. Anna Lachetki of Ellwood
City on charges of kidnapping her 2 year old daughter from the home of her husband's parents in Butler, about two months ago.

Olga Loos, sister of the mother, and Mary and Frank Loos her parents, were also absolved of any criminal act in assisting Mrs. Lachetki in taking the child or protecting the mother afterward.

Judge James O. Campbell of the Butler county court had given the child into the custody of the fati-er's parents after a hearing in the court. Officers traced the mother to Ellwood City, but were unable to place her under arrest.

Dames Of Malta Plan For Party

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 6.—At the regular meeting of the Dames of Malta which took place Friday night in the Pythian hall, plans were made for a Christmas exchange party which will take place December 19 in the lodge room, opening with a twelve dinner at 6:30.

It was announced at the meeting that Mrs. Helen Letti was re-elected to the position of deputy.

The meeting concluded with a social hour and lunch.

ENTERTAINING TODAY.
ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 6.—Mrs.
W. W. Seidel and Mrs. Harold Seidel are joint hostesses at a bridge-luncheon at one o'clock today to a number of their friends, in the former's home on Fifth street.

Suspect In Erie Surrenders Self

Walter Scott, Erie, Surrenders
Self To Police—Hotel
Manager Slain

(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., Dec. 6.—Walter Scott, of Erie, was being held by police today after his surrender to Detective Sergeant George E. Barber in connection with the fatal shooting of George Herman, 53, proprietor of the Hoffman hotel here last Thursday.

While city and state police were conducting a wide search for the shooting suspect, Scott was said to have walked to the home of Detective Barber where he gave himself over to police.

In the confusion and disorder immediately following the shooting bandits opened the safe in the Hoffman hotel office and escaped with loot unnoticed.

Scott told police he was a former resident of Cleveland.

the play "Go East Mary," which will be presented some time before Christmas. The enrollment for this semester at that school is 250.

A play is presented annually before Christmas. Eight teachers compose the teaching staff there.
Practices for the basketball season are being held daily according to Coach A. M. Asper. The schedule has not yet been completed.

DEER HUNTERS HOME
Some of the Deer hunters have arrived home somewhat a little less concocted than when they left. Not a Deer hunter with them, Messrs.
Edward McMillen, H. W. Marshall,
W. H. Grimen, E. T. Algier and R.

Legion Auxiliary Plans Many Events

A busy evening was the result of the meeting of the American Legion auxiliary in the Legion home Friday evening when plans were completed for the charity work to be carried out at the Yuletide season.

Mrs. Ivor Davis, Lillian Hartman and Mrs. Edgar McKee were appointed as the relief committee.

The annual Christmas party plans were formulated with a dinner planned for 6:30 p. m. on December 19 for the members of the Legion and their families. The after dinner hours will be turned over to the committee which has planned a splendid program and a treat will be given the children.

Tentative plans for the entertainment of the councils of four counties were discussed. This meeting will be held during January, 1931.

Feed Dealers Meet On Friday

At the meeting of the Lawrence County Feed Dealers which was held on Friday night at the Elks Club, the problems of the farmers and farms were brought to the attention of the feed dealers by J. H. Higbee who spoke to the members. Fourteen attended this meeting.

The next meeting of the feed dealers will take place on January 2 at the Elks Club, at which time

Emerson Davies Home With Deer

Emerson Davies, son of Matthew Davies, East Washington street bagged an eight point deer which weighed 150 pounds. He shot the deer in the vicinity of Tidoute.

SCHEDULE DECEMBER YARDMASTER'S FETE

A dinner and dance are features planned for the regular Pennsylvania railroad yardmasters' party scheduled for Thursday evening, December 11 at 6:30 o'clock. It will take place in the social room of the west side freight office building.

Arrangements for the program,
a monthly affair, are being handled by Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McGrew.

MORE DEER ARRIVE

David Cox of the Butler road and Lee L. Shira of Bell avenue have returned from a hunting trip into Cameron county and were successful in bagging an 8-point buck, which they are proudly displaying to their friends.

We Are Revising Our Files

The New Castle Credit Exchange is at this time reviewing the accounts with our members, compiling and posting your new rating to your card. Will your rating be better or just as good as your previous record?

Many of our previous habitual slow pays have moved up into the Prompt Pay Class. They have learned the advantage of paying their accounts promptly.

Some few, of course, do not seem to appreciate the fact that they may be seriously hampered when they again apply for further credit. Simply because they fail to be as good as their word and pay their bills as they had agreed.

Credit at the Yuletide season is a great convenience. Why not start today to make all your credit ratings read prompt pay.

Credit never abused is never refused.

Issue Broadcast Tickets To Aid Nation's Jobless

Army-Navy "broadcast tickets" through which listeners to the broadcast of the Army-Navy game for the relief of the unemployed on Saturday, December 13, can contribute to the Salvation Army Radio Fund, are being issued here, it was announced today.

The tickets will be distributed here by means of a coupon printed in this paper and regular tickets can also be secured at all Philco dealers, as a contribution to the drive. All over the country the entire Philco distributing organization is distributing similar tickets as part of Philco's cooperation with the Salvation Army in raising funds for the relief of the unemployed.

The game between the two service institutions is being played entirely for the benefit of the Salvation Army's fund, with seats selling as high as fifty dollars. Philco is sponsoring the broadcast of the game over the entire networks of both the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System, with the three greatest sports announcers in the world at the microphones, Graham MacNamee, Ted Husing and Bill Munday.

Philco paid the greatest sum ever given for a radio broadcast. This was donated to the Salvation Army.

Philco is also caring on the distribution of thousands of these broadcast tickets as an additional contribution.

The tickets, which will be distributed here in large quantities, call for the contribution of one dollar to the Salvation Army Radio Fund for the privilege of a "ringside seat" at the great game.

Although anyone with a radio set can hear the broadcast by tuning in,
the Salvation Army hopes that thousands of listeners will send in their contribution, with the consequent addition of thousands of dollars to the fund.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

24. George Rogers Clark—A Dangerous Situation

CLARK'S FAIR TREATMENT OF THE KASKASKIAN'S BORE FRUIT. THE INHABITANTS OF THE CAPTURED TOWN, URGED BY FATHER GIBBALT, HASTENED TO RENOUNCE THEIR ALLEGIANCE TO GREAT BRITAIN AND BECOME AMERICAN CITIZENS.

NOTWITHSTANDING HIS SUCCESSES CLARK WAS IN A PRECARIOUS POSITION. HE WAS MANY, MANY MILES FROM HIS BASE. HE WAS SURROUNDED BY FIERCE INDIAN TRIBES IN THE PAY OF THE BRITISH, NUMBERING THOUSANDS OF WARRIORS, THAT, NOTING HIS WEAKNESS, MIGHT POUNCE ON HIM AT ANY MOMENT.

CLARK WISELY DID NOT PLACE TOO MUCH CONFIDENCE IN THE LOYALTY OF THE FRENCH TO THEIR NEW ALLEGIANCE. TO DISCOURAGE ANY IDEA OF REVOLT HE LED THEM TO BELIEVE THAT HIS SMALL FORCE WAS BUT THE ADVANCE GUARD OF A STRONG AMERICAN ARMY OPERATING IN THE WEST.

AT THE SAME TIME HE SHREWDLY CULTIVATED FRIENDLY RELATIONS WITH THE COMMANDANTS OF THE SPANISH POSTS ON THE WEST BANK OF THE MISSISSIPPI SO THAT IF THE BRITISH SHOULD ATTACK HIM IN OVERWHELMING NUMBERS AND DRIVE HIM FROM KASKASKIA, HE COULD RETREAT INTO NEUTRAL SPANISH TERRITORY.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Slight Changes In Stock Market Prices

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Under the lead of Oils, Rails and Specialties, the stock market settled down to a slightly lower price level in a dull week-end session. A slight selling flurry in the Oils followed announcement of the withdrawal of Prairie Oil and Gas as buyer of Crude and the further decline in Gasoline prices at Chicago and other wholesale markets.

Erie and New York Central led the Rails into new low ground for the year, but selling pressure on the Erie was not as heavy as in the last few days. New York Central fell through to 125 1/2 for a new low and Erie at 26 showed a loss of 2 points. Railroad bonds continued the downward move which has been in progress since Monday, but here again the volume of business was light.

The Utility stocks and Industrials in the second hour held within a close range of Friday's closing prices. The market again presented a solid

Erie Bank Teller Held As Embezzler

Leo J. Smith, Teller In Erie Bank, Found Short $74,600 In His Accounts

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 6.—Charged with having embezzled $74,600 of the funds of the First National Bank of Erie, where he was employed as a teller, Leo J. Smith today was being held for United States court after arraignment on the charge.

Smith was charged with having taken the bank's funds to place bets at local horse-racing and book-making establishments, before United States Commissioner Flier.

The teller's arrest was believed to have resulted from a drastic vice-cleanup ordered by District Attorney Otto L. Herbst in which a number of alleged gambling and book-making establishments were raided and closed.

Young Hunter Is Severely Wounded

Albert Bradel, 22, Pittsburgh, Seriously Wounded, Near DuBois, Pa.

(International News Service)

DUBOIS, Pa., Dec. 6.—Accidentally shot while hunting the brush for deer, Albert Bradel, 22, of Pittsburgh, today was confined to a hospital here in a critical condition.

Accompanied by his brother, Sergeant Joseph Bradel, and plainclothesman Jacob P. Robitzer, of the Pittsburgh police the victim was traipsing through the woods in search of deer.

The shot tore away Bradel's thumb, penetrated his arm and passed through the lung. He walked more than three miles with the aid of his companions to their machine where he collapsed before being driven to the hospital.

Magistrates Will Undergo Grilling

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The decks were cleared today by the Kresel-Seabury investigators to publicly question 25 magistrates next week in an effort to uncover details of the workings of the "vice ring" in New York.

All the magistrates in Manhattan and the Bronx will be placed on the witness stand, some to be questioned about specific cases in which girls allegedly were "framed" by the members of the police department and their informers.

Red Russia Waits For Death Verdict Against Plotters

Russian Courtroom Scene Of Frenzy As 2,000 Demand Lives Of Conspirators

(International News Service) MOSCOW, Dec. 6.—Red Russia waited tensely today as the trial of eight defendants charged with conspiring to overthrow the Soviet government through sabotage of its industries and with the aid of foreign intervention entered the final stage. A death verdict was demanded in the dramatic summation delivered to the court by Nikolai V. Krikenko, chief prosecutor, who pointed out that the supreme penalty was desired not for revenge but for the future security of Red Russia. As a climax to his dramatic appeal the courtroom turned into a howling mob vociferously backing up the prosecutor's demand for the death penalty, thus unwittingly reenacting a scene familiar in the bloody days of the French Revolution. Even the faces of the prisoners blanched as the spectators stood upon chairs and shouted for the lives of those on trial.

Twenty New York Officers Facing Serious Charges

Perjury Charges Made Against Officers — Gigantic Investigation

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Twenty New York police officers today faced grand jury action on perjury charges as a part of the investigation of the appellate division's inquiry into magistrates' courts. Isidor J. Kresel, chief counsel, said ground-work for indictments had already been made.

Fifty seven unjustified arrests of women on testimony of thirteen policemen in the Jefferson Market Court during 1929 were clear cases for grand jury action on perjury charges because the officers swore falsely, and in twenty nine cases where evidence was procured by paid vice informers, seven other officers wrote false complaints, according to Irvin Ben Fisher, assistant to Kresel.

Arbitration For Minor Legal Cases Urged By Judge

Plan Would Save County Large Amount In Costs

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 6.—Recommendation that attorneys submit minor civil cases to a board of arbitration rather than list them for trial, a practice which he pointed out would effect a tremendous saving to the county was made by Judge James O. Campbell, at a called meeting of the Butler County Bar association.

Attention was called by Judge Campbell to an act permitting certain cases to be heard and decided by boards of arbitration was passed in 1923. Such a practice has become rather common in Venango county, he said, and according to reports is proving satisfactory to all parties concerned.

It was brought out that the act in effect provides that each of the parties to a suit appoint one or more arbitrators, who appoint another, and together they hear the testimony and decide on the merits of the case.

Especially was the practice recommended for automobile damage suits. Judge Campbell, it is understood, pointed out that it costs approximately $200 a day for the local court to function, and then there is the inconvenience occasioned witnesses who oftentimes are required to be in court two or three days waiting for the case in which they are to testify to be taken up.

to sponsor a delicious orange recipe, which should be a welcome change to this nation of orange juice drinkers.

BAKED ORANGES
Boil-six oranges until they are soft, taking care that they are always covered with water. (Don't boil too quickly or the skins will break.) This will take from three to four hours. Test by pricking with a fork. Cut oranges in half, place them in a fairly deep pan, then pour over them a syrup made of three cups of granulated sugar and one cup of the water the oranges have been cooked in. (It will take a few minutes to make the syrup.)

After the syrup has been poured over the oranges, place about a teaspoon of melted butter on each orange. Cover the pan and cook slowly on top of the stove; baste the oranges from time to time with the syrup. Cook until the oranges begin to get clear. This will take about one and a half hours.

Benny Watkins To Teach Class

The Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church feel they are fortunate to secure B. J. Watkins, of the Rescue Mission, as teacher of the class Sunday morning in the absence of the regular teacher, Rev. G. M. Landis, who is in Lorain, Ohio, conducting a Bible Study.

It is the aim of the class to have 175 men out Sunday as they are in close competition with the Norris-town Baptist church in an attendance contest. Special music will feature the opening exercise of the class.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

When you and I get to be 85 years of age it seems very probable that a comfortable chair and an open fire will be about as strenuous a life as we will lead. Wood chopping and walks from East Brook will interest us but little, but there is a lad of 85 years who takes these things in his stride.

Met up with him yesterday. Bob Barclay, sometimes known as Gypsy Bob and for half an hour we sat around the pot bellied stove in Fred March's paint shop, with old Bob the speaker of the house.

He probably is 85 for his face is lined with the record of the years, and nearly a century of exposure to the wind and sun has given his face the appearance of hand tooled leather. A great shock of hair that seems to defy comb and brush has but little gray in it, while his hands are gnarled and knotted with hard work.

But although his face shows the years, his eyes have lost little of their keenness, his memory is an unusual thing, and as he sat back in the big chair, he went back through the years for us.

He was born in Scotland, but his tongue betrays an early acquaintanceship with the north of Ireland and he admitted to having been taken to Belfast as a baby of one year, where he lived until he was ten. At ten years of age he was an emigrant and what a trip that must have been across the Atlantic in 1855.

His parents came to New Castle and here or hereabouts he has made his home ever since. There have been times when he left for a few years but always he came back. One of his earliest jobs was on a canal boat running from New Castle up through Warren, O. A companion boat hand was a youngster named Jim Garfield.

In the winter Jim got a job as a hired hand on a farm, and because of his interest in education, a couple of the boys helped him with his chores night and morning so he could get away to Poland College. Jim got his education and later headed Hiram College, according to Old Bob. Still later he was president of the United States.

Another young fellow he worked with a while was a lad named Jimmy Davis. Jimmy helped a puddler and Gypsy Bob knew him well. This youngster left this part of the country for Indiana. Today he is United States Senator from Pennsylvania. At the time Jimmy Davis was just a youngster, Bob Barclay was a grown man.

Still another companion in mill work was George W. Johnson. This lad was ambitious and in a short time was one of the owners of a mill. Bob had been away from a while and coming back found his former companion a mill owner. There was a job for Bob.

Here is a statement that Gypsy Bob made that seems to be denied by the history writers, but Bob insists it is true. William McKinley was born in Mercer County, Pennsylvania. According to Bob, William McKinley was the son of a man who worked for a furnace company in that part of the country, and here the future president was born.

Age hasn't hurt his conversational proclivities. On and on he talked about a deposit of firestone on the way to East Brook, of the value of firestone as compared with bricks made of fire clay and used in lining furnaces. Of the hesitancy of customers to lay in their supply of wood in the summer, of the business depression, of politics, of industry, anything you touched upon.

For all his years he is an optimist. "Things are going to be better in the spring" said he. "They've been bad before and they got better. Same thing now. Times are a little tough, but the spring will see the turn."

So I left him there. Leaning way back in the chair, contemplating the world's progress for the past sixty years, reminiscing over his own eventful life, philosophizing on the ways of the world. Eighty five years old but active and mentally keen. Strong enough to go out and cut a cord or two of wood before noon and then deliver it to a customer. A remarkable old fellow.

Saw an interesting old piece of furniture down there. A customer had brought in an old fashioned chest of drawers made out of select cherry wood. It must be a century or more old and when E. C. Gardner started work on it, it was painted with what looked to be barn paint. Today it shines with a patina that would do credit to the finest mahogany.

This is the day when the old grads endeavor to show the youngsters of the New Castle High football team what the game of football is all about. And my own guess before the game is that the kids are going to stand some of the old timers on their ears before the final whistle blows.

Unemployed Army In State May Be Aided By Sub-Committee

Governor Fisher, Urged To Appoint Rogers Flannery, Of Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 6.—With the possibility in view that three sub-committees of President Hoover's unemployment commission may be established for eastern, central and western Pennsylvania, Governor Fisher today was urged to appoint Rogers Flannery, Pittsburgh industrial leader, as chairman of a western Pennsylvania sub-committee whose specific object is the reduction of unemployment and the aid of jobless workers in the western section of the state. Following a conference with Colonel Arthur O. Woods, head of the President's commission, in Washington yesterday, it was decided that Harry I. Miller, Pittsburgh attorney, would meet with the state executive here today and urge the appointment of Flannery.

Davis Interested

Senator James J. Davis, Pennsylvania's junior senator, was present at the conference between Woods and Miller. Woods told his callers that the administration is looking to the various state governors for cooperation in its unemployment relief program and thought it wise that Governor Fisher be consulted.

It was suggested by Davis, who made the appointment with Governor Fisher, for Miller, that a proposal might arise for the establishment of three sub-committees in Pennsylvania instead of the one proposed only for the Pittsburgh district. According to the plan, the state would be divided into three zones—eastern, central and western—with headquarters at Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Pittsburgh respectively. In this way, it was pointed out, the whole state would be served in the same manner as that outlined for Pittsburgh.

Wets Sent Huge Sum Into State

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Expenditures of $100,000 were made by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment in an effort to swing Pennsylvania to "wet" candidates in the primary election campaign. Henry H. Curran, the association's director, testified before the Nye senatorial investigating committee. "We wanted to convince Republicans that there was a widespread 'wet' sentiment in the state," Curran explained to the committee, meeting here during their investigation of primary expenditures. Curran listed altogether expenditures of $121,000, including $4,500 in Ohio and $1,000 in Wyoming campaigns.
